WILMINGTON—The annual Memorial Day Parade, whose marchers included the Police and Fire Departments, the Board of Selectmen, the Cub Scouts, and the Wilmington High School band, ended at Wildwood Cemetery, in preparation for the ceremony.

The theme was sacrifice. And it honored both the living and the dead.

Many towns have simply stopped doing Memorial Day celebrations, said Lou Cimaglia, a member of the Board of Selectmen and Wilmington's Veterans' Agent.

"In some places the ceremonies continue, as you see here," he said, noting that Wilmington always honors the ideals and values for which soldiers have fought.

This year is the 50th anniversary of the Vietnam War, he said, and he called the attacks and criticisms of the people who "served with valor" a "national shame."

So he welcomed them home. Keith Jones, the Director of Operations for Veterans'

Intersection funding delayed, again

BY JON BISHOP
Town Crier Correspondent
Jon@YourTownCrier.com

WILMINGTON—Town Manager Jeff Hull sent a letter to the Wilmington legislative delegation in which he asked them to place the Middlesex Avenue/Glen Road and Middlesex Avenue/Wildwood Street intersection project back on the Transportation Improvement Plan, or TIP, and to commit to funding the completion of the project.

"The town recently received information that the long awaited funding for the intersection project has once again been delayed," he wrote. "In the fall of 2013 the Town was advised that the projected would be advertised in January of 2014. Due to the stalemate in reaching agreement over passage of the state transportation bill advertising was delayed."

It was supposed to be advertised last April, but due to further cutbacks from District 4 funding projects, the intersection reconstruction was again delayed.

Hull wrote that the initial request to have the project included on the TIP occurred in 2002.

"Due to the existing configuration of the intersections, the area presents serious challenges for drivers, cyclists, and pedestrians," he wrote. "Multiple motor vehicle accidents

Bradbury: A dedicated servant retires

WILMINGTON—Fire Chief Ed Bradbury has served the town for over forty years. He began in the Water Department and then moved over to the Fire Department, where he has since remained. But he'll retire come June 2. Deputy Chief Richard McClellan, who was announced his replacement at a recent Board of Selectmen meeting, will have big shoes to fill.

Town Manager Jeff Hull had nothing but good things to say about Bradbury. "I think he's really been truly passionate about the fire service. Here's a guy who became a firefighter initially as a call firefighter," he said. "Ultimately, I think his real passion was

DPW summer projects

Plans for 2014

BY JON BISHOP
Town Crier Correspondent
Jon@YourTownCrier.com

WILMINGTON—Summertime is when town departments pursue their projects, and the Wilmington Department of Public Works, in addition to its normal work, has a lot of things it would like to accomplish.

"We're putting some additional water main work on Route 62," said Superintendent Michael Woods. The water main will run from the library to Glen Road.

They're also going to be repairing a culvert down on Butters Row, and they'll connect the North Intermediate School to sewer.

School'll add fencing to the beach area on Grove Avenue.

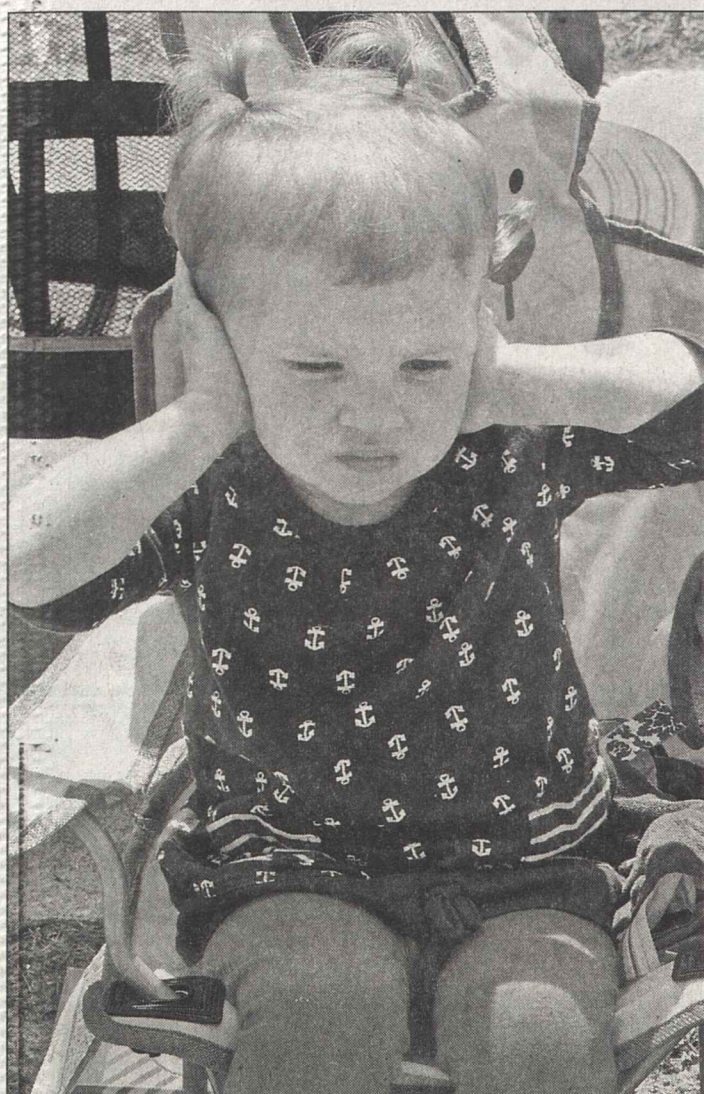

These, Woods said, are one-time projects.

Their regular projects, which they do every summer, include maintaining parks, grounds, and cemeteries, pruning public trees, and replacing problem water services.

"It's a lot of maintenance and sprucing up areas," he said.

Woods said they'll also pave roads, seal cracks, and fill potholes.

IRA PAYOUTS

The year an IRA owner turns 70 1/2, he or she must withdraw a specified fraction of the total IRA holdings or face an outrageous penalty of 50 percent of the amount NOT taken out. Yet more than 250,000 people fail each year and pay the penalty.

(There is a legal option the first year to delay distribution until April 1 of the following year, but two payouts that year may bump the IRA owner into a higher tax bracket and surtaxes.)

How much must you take out? The required minimum distribution—see IRS Pub. 590 or a list from various financial services—starts with your IRA balance of the previous December 31 divided by a factor determined by your age. There will be a higher factor for those who are more than 10 years older than a spouse.

If you have multiple IRA accounts, the distribution may be taken from any of them, as long as the total adds up to the required minimum distribution for that year.

How much must you withdraw?

We'll help you figure it out at

Seventy Years Ago

Elmer Drew died in D-Day invasion

BY LARZ F. NEILSON
 Editor Emeritus

WILMINGTON - The largest sea-borne invasion in history occurred 70 years ago next week when more than one million Allied troops invaded Normandy, on the coast of France.

Code named Operation Neptune, it began the Allied invasion of Europe, which had been largely occupied by German forces for four years.

The scope of World War II is almost unimaginable. It pitted the so-called Axis powers, Nazi Germany, Italy and Japan against the Allied forces, primarily Britain, the Soviet Union, and the United States, along with many other countries. The war took place in many areas around the world: Europe, North Africa, the South Pacific and Southeast Asia. German submarines, called U-boats, ruled the North Atlantic, even sinking ships along the east and Gulf coasts of the U.S.

The war began in Sept. 1939 with the German invasion of Poland, and then several other countries in Europe. The British were hesitant to become involved, but one year later, German bombs were falling on London. The U.S. supported

Elmer Drew

British efforts, but did not become involved in fighting until the Japanese bombing of Pearl Harbor on Dec. 7, 1941.

There was one thing that the Axis powers did accomplish, and that was to strike a chord of unity in the United States and among the Allied nations. Across the U.S., thousands of men and women enlisted in the armed forces. Virtually everyone joined in the war effort, with civilians volunteering as air raid wardens and spotters, with others collecting scrap metal for manufacturing, as U.S. factories became the supplier of tanks, planes, ships and munitions.

Young men reaching the age of 18 would immediately sign up for the military. One young man, eager to join the fighting was 17-year-old Elmer Drew, who lived on West Street in Wilmington. The Navy was the only military branch that accepted enlistees at 17, and then only with parental permission. So Mrs. Wavie Drew signed the papers allowing her son to enlist.

She had three other sons was Elmer Drew. The German defense strategy was to stop the invasion at the water line, and the troops coming ashore were met with heavy machine-gun fire.

Despite the initial losses, the invasion continued and ultimately became an Allied victory. Eleven months later, on May 8, 1945, Germany surrendered. The war in the Pacific continued for another three months until the Japanese surrender on August 15.

Elmer Drew had been in the U.S. Navy for only six weeks when he died. He was one of seven children of Laughlin and Wavie Drew. Mr. Drew had died on July 8, in the military, Calvin in the Marines, Leonard and Richard in the Army.

Elmer went through basic training in the spring of 1944, and immediately shipped out to England. He was assigned as the cox'n (steersman) on a landing craft.

The timing of the invasion was critical; it was determined mainly by tidal conditions. As it turned out, the weather was less than perfect, but a delay would have meant a two-week delay. The invasion began at 6:30 on June 6, 1944. The initial invasion that day did not go well, and one of the men who died on Omaha Beach 1942. Five years after her son's death, Mrs. Drew was elected to the Wilmington Board of Selectmen, and she served on that board through the 50s and 60s. She was the backbone of the Wilmington Republican Town Committee and of the Wilmington Community Fund.

At the corner of Lowell and West streets, one hundred yards from where Elmer Drew grew up, is a sign commemorating that corner as Elmer Drew Square. Today, it is a busy intersection. The Drew home is no longer in existence.

The girls of Girl Scout Troop 63124 received piggy banks from Nancy Brown, Manager of Reading Co-operative Bank in North Wilmington

Reading Co-operative Bank reaches out to local Girl Scout Troop

Reading Co-operative Bank's Wilmington Branch Manager, Nancy Brown, recently taught Girl Scout Troop #63124 important lessons on how to save money.

The half hour class serves as an introduction to savings, and is targeted at third, fourth and fifth graders.

During the class, the children are exposed to various examples and demonstrations on savings: to know what it means to save, why people save and how to save better.

"I am very happy to introduce these bright young ladies to savings. They ask so many wise questions and it is very rewarding to know that Reading Co-operative Bank cares about the education of the kids in the local communities," says Nancy Brown, Branch Manager at the Wilmington Office of Reading Co-operative Bank.

"Great presentation! Nancy made it easy, so the girls understood the value of saving for a rainy day. I think they will go home telling their parents how they can choose an alternative way to spending that will help them to save their money," says Troop Leader Alba Frasco.

Earlier this month, Brown also met with students at Shawsheen School and held a Teach Children to Save seminar. Teach Children to Save seminar was attended by everyone and Miss Sadowski's first grade class enjoyed Brown's presentation as depicted in the picture.

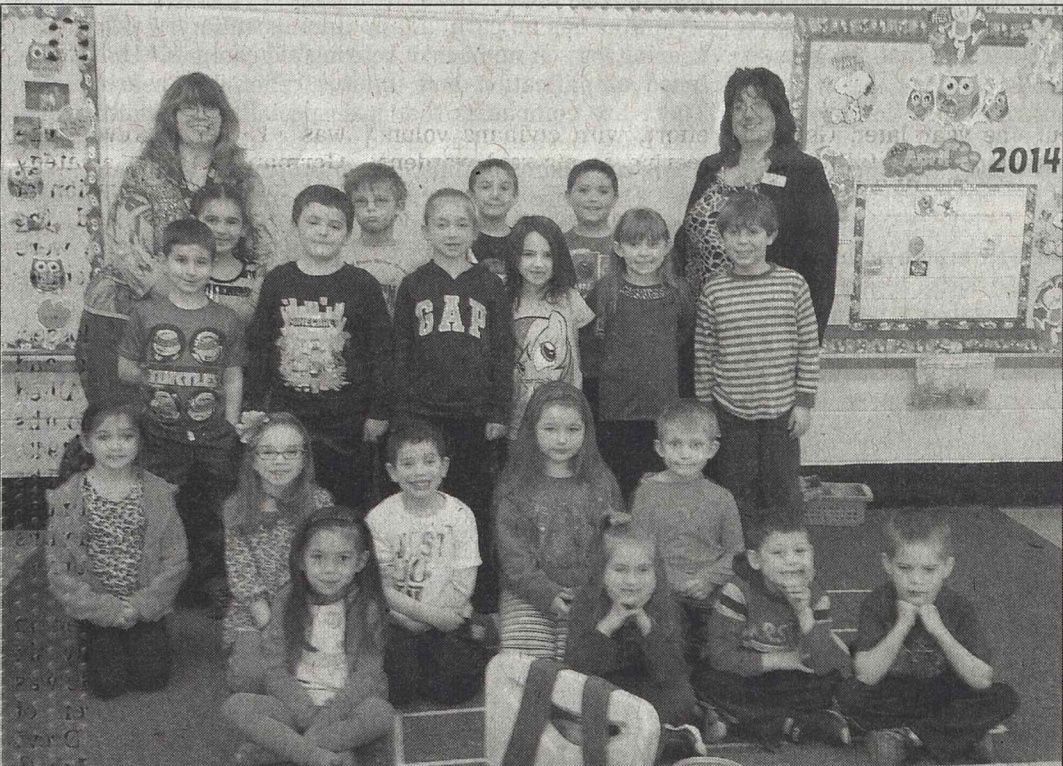

The half hour class, included a demonstration of different coins and their values and instruction about the importance of saving through Smart Saver worksheets. Reading Co-operative Bank also provided each of the 354 students with an RCB coloring book, crayons, and a Smart Saver worksheet to help them to better understand the material that Brown explained.

"I had a wonderful time working with these bright youngsters; they were very attentive and asked great questions," says Brown. "It is a wonderful opportunity for kids to learn about savings from a very young age; even the adults can learn from these educational seminars that RCB hosts. One teacher even commented to me that she also learned something and she was glad I was invited to speak with these kids," added Nancy Brown, Branch Manager at the Wilmington Office of Reading Co-operative Bank.

"The students loved having Reading Co-operative Bank come into the classrooms and they really appreciated and enjoyed the coloring books and crayons," says Assistant Principal Lisa King.

Reading Co-operative Bank employees host Teach Children to Save seminars every month. To find out when the next seminar is call RCB at 781-942-5000 or come in any of the eight Reading Co-operative Bank offices and ask to speak with the Branch Manager.

Miss Sadowski and Reading Co-operative Bank manager, Nancy Brown worked with these first graders to learn the workings of our money system.

Keeping up appearances

Want to know what cities and towns are important to a politician? Pay attention to the places they visit, particularly on major holidays. With the 6th district a 'race to watch' in 2014, every vote counts.

Congressman John Tierney, a democrat, is in a heated battle against republican Richard Tisei for the 6th district. Last time around, in 2012, Tisei lost by just one point in a major race that earned national attention. CNN and Politico have both named this race one to watch.

To that end, Tisei and Tierney both showed in Tewksbury Monday. Tisei not only walked in the Memorial Day Parade in the afternoon with the Tewksbury Republican Town Committee, he also made an appearance at Tewksbury Country Club's Wounded Warrior 5K race that morning (which began at 8 AM).

Tierney attended the cemetery ceremony prior to the parade, and gave a brief speech. Other local elected officials also spoke, including Selectman Todd Johnson, State Senator Barry Finegold, and Representative Jim Miceli.

While the climate is more favorable for Tisei this year than in 2012, since Tierney will not be running with President Obama and Elizabeth Warren on the ticket, a primary fight also looms for the incumbent. Seth Moulton, a well-funded former Marine and Harvard educated businessman has raised a little over $1 million, has $651K cash on hand, and has outraised Tierney over the last three quarters. Tierney has $976K in cash and raised just over $1.3M.

Marisa DeFranco is also challenging Tierney, and we reported on her campaign recently, but with only $31,000 in the bank, her campaign needs a major cash infusion before she could pose even a minor risk to Tierney.

Tisei, either way, is saving his money for the post-primary campaign. Currently Tisei has about $569K in cash on hand and he's raised over $750,000. In 2012 the campaigns spent over $2 million. If Tierney stays in, Tisei has a serious shot at winning the seat, but if Moulton prevails in the primary, all bets are off.

Moulton, however, chose Peabody, Saugus, Beverly, Newburyport, Amesbury, Marblehead, Nahant and Lynn for his Memorial Day activities.

Tewksbury and Wilmington voters should expect to be courted a little bit this year, and may want to consider getting involved and grabbing the ear of candidates as they vie for local votes. The eyes of the nation will be upon the 6th district.

Let's Talk About Hearing

by Lolly Wigall

Tinnitus and Veterans

Tinnitus is a "ringing in the ear". Tinnitus has been described by sufferers as a hissing, a tea kettle, a chirping noise, wind blowing, and a tone. It can be constant or intermittent. Sufferers complain they are sometimes awakened from a sound sleep with the noise. Others only hear the noise when they are in a quiet environment. Some have difficulty falling asleep because they are distracted by the noise. It is a known phenomenon and can be debilitating. Until recently we did not know where tinnitus originated. However, we now know that the genesis of tinnitus is in the brain and not the ears.

According to the American Tinnitus Association over fifty million Americans are affected by tinnitus. About sixteen million Americans have what is called chronic tinnitus. And, over two million Americans are incapacitated by their tinnitus.

The Veterans Administration paid $1.1 billion dollars in VA disability compensation for tinnitus in 2009. It is estimated that by 2014, the service-connected disability payments to veterans just for tinnitus will cost $2.26 billion annually. Even though the Veterans Administration pays this staggering amount of money to our veterans, they spend little in research on tinnitus. The research budget for tinnitus in the Veterans Administration budget is less than 1 percent of the compensation paid to our veterans.

The number of cases of tinnitus sufferers among our veterans is on the rise. Tinnitus has been the number one complaint of our soldiers returning from Iraq and Afghanistan. Hopefully, with the wars ending the number of tinnitus complaints will lessen. However, tinnitus can be related to hearing loss and noise exposure.

Tinnitus has no cure. Many tinnitus sufferers also have a hearing loss. A number of hearing aid companies have combined amplification and tinnitus relief into hearing aids. There are companies that just specialize in tinnitus relief and have devices that are designed to mask the tinnitus. There are claims of pills and vitamins that will "cure" tinnitus. There are narrow band noise and white noise generators that some people use to distract themselves so they can get to sleep.

If you have tinnitus it is a good idea to have a diagnostic hearing test by a licensed, certified audiologist. Tinnitus can be a sign of tumors and other medical issues. Tinnitus can be a side effect of medications. Getting a thorough evaluation can give you peace of mind.

North Street School thanks sponsors, volunteers

Dear Editor,

The North Street School would like to thank all of the volunteers and community partners that made the May 16th Ice Cream Social a huge success. Although the weather was far from cooperative and the line was long, smiles were abundant as over 400 ice cream sundaes were dished out by parent volunteers.

Students, teachers, family and friends of the North Street School community gather annually for this event in conjunction with the school's book fair. It is a time where families catch up with each other and kids mingle with their teachers and Principal Angela Kimble.

This special night out would not be possible were it not for the generous donations of local companies. A giant North Street Husky "Thank You" goes out to Mr. Justin Garofano and Mr. Brian St. Louis of ATA Martial Arts of Tewksbury, Mr. Ken Mackey, Mr. Don Coffin, Mr. Gerry Goodwin and Mr. Mike Reichert and the staff at Orange Leaf, Tewksbury, Mr. Rob Wihtelin and his team at Hannaford Lowell, and the staff at Market Basket. ### Thanks for egg hunt success

Dear Editor:

On Saturday, April 19, the Wilmington Recreation Department sponsored the 43rd Annual Easter Egg Hunt for children ages 6 and under. Volunteers and Recreation staff blanketed the Town Common with candy-filled eggs. When the signal sounded, police estimated that over 600 children rushed to fill their baskets.

The success of an event of this size requires the support of many residents and organizations within town. Special thanks to Dunkin Donuts at 195 Main Street, Fudge Properties, Kiwanis Club, Market Basket, Re/Max Encore, the Rotary Club of Wilmington, the Aleppo Shriners, the Tewksbury-Wilmington Elks, the Wilmington Community Fund and the Wilmington Sons of Italy. The Wilmington Police Department provided auxiliary police officers to assure the safe access to the event.

We would also like to thank the dedicated volunteers who filled over 7,000 eggs with candy, and the volunteers that came to the Town Common to scatter the eggs for eager young children to collect. We extend heartfelt thanks to the Easter Bunny who came all the way to Wilmington to welcome children and pose for photos.

Thank you to everyone who helped to make this event a memorable one.

Sincerely yours,
Deborah Cipriani
Recreation Director

Good Guy says thanks

Dear Editor,

The 2014 Good Guy recipient, Bernard Nally, offers his thanks to the Good Guy Committee for choosing him as this year's winner. I was thoroughly surprised to be greeted by 150 friends, relatives and Town officials as I arrived at the Knights of Columbus Hall. I thought someone else had won this year.

Thanks to those who wrote letter to the committee recommending me for this year's award. Thanks to my family and friends for keeping a secret for a couple of months.

Thanks to Steve Bjork who was the M.C. for the night as he led a parade of roasters who found many reasons to pun on me.

Thanks also for the many kind words and jokes at my expense.

Election laws reform bill signed into law

Finegold's bill allows for early voting, online voter registration and pre-registration of 16 and 17-year-olds

BOSTON - Senator Barry R. Finegold (D-Andover) announced Thursday that the Governor signed his comprehensive Elections Laws Reform bill into law, modernizing our state's election laws and preserving our fundamental voting rights. The new law authorizes early voting for biennial state general elections, online voter registration and pre-registration of 16 and 17-year-olds. Finegold advocated for passage of the bill for years and served as the Senate's lead negotiator on the conference committee.

"Anytime we can increase access and voter participation it is a positive step towards greater electoral engagement," Senator Barry Finegold (D-Andover) said. "I am proud of the bill the Legislature passed and the Governor signed to update our antiquated election laws and make voting more accessible to the modern Massachusetts family. Early voting, pre-registration of 16 and 17-year-olds and online voter registration are a few of the significant reforms passed today that will enhance voter access and increase participation in the electoral process."

Under this bill, Massachusetts will become the 33rd state to allow early voting. The period for early voting will begin 11 business days before an election and end at the close of polls two business days before the election. Furthermore, the bill requires the Secretary of State to create an online voter registration system as well as a secure online portal to allow voters to easily check their voter registration status and polling location.

Auditing Voting Machines

The bill also requires audits of voting machines every four years after Presidential general elections. This stands as another significant reform in the bill and a key step in maintaining the integrity of the voting system. Specifically, the bill necessitates that the state conduct election audits during presidential general election years in races that have more than one candidate on the ballot for President and Vice President, Representative in Congress, Senator in Congress, State Representative and State Senator, as well as one statewide ballot question. Precincts to be audited must be chosen in a random drawing and the number selected must be equal to 3% of all precincts in the Commonwealth. The Secretary of State will oversee the audits, and if a discrepancy arises, subsequent audits may be performed.

Inactive Voter List

This piece of legislation also places voters on the inactive list only after failing to respond to two consecutive annual town censuses and not voting in an election during that time. Under current law, a voter can be placed on the inactive list for not filling out an annual census. In addition, the bill allows a voter whose political designation does not list a candidate in a primary election to be considered unenrolled and receive a ballot for the political party of the voter's choosing. The legal definition of "political designation" does not include the republican and democrat political parties.

Additional Provisions

- Require municipal election officials to attend annual training given by the Secretary of State regarding applicable state and federal election laws;

- Permit municipalities to apply for a waiver from the Secretary of State in order to hire fewer election officers than required by statute;

- Eliminate the requirement for a cancellation device on voting machines;

- Require the Secretary of State to study existing laws with regard to residency requirements for purposes of voting; and

- Establish an elections task force to review early voting and expanding technology, including costs, administrative requirements, reductions in wait times on Election Day, the feasibility of additional early voting sites and hours, voter turnout, Election Day mobile alerts and online voting.

Let's Hear it!!

Your Two Cents...

Affordable Activities

A big Thumbs Up to the Wilmington Recreation Department for continuously offering well run and affordable activities for adults and kids to enjoy year round!

Ode to Litterbugs

Wilmington, Wilmington, our great little town. It's as good as it gets; the nicest around. A drive down Main St. brings smiles to our faces. At least 'til you get to those fast food places.

And the trash that surfs in the wakes of the cars. Thrown by brain-dead kids, from Venus and Mars. Whose parents have failed to teach them better. That it's just wrong to shamefully litter.

(Editor's Note - I've seen lots litterbugs in both Tewksbury and Wilmington, and plenty of them are adults. It's great to see positive recycling efforts in the schools, such as Green Teams at the Ryan and Heath Brook Elementary Schools, which raise awareness in younger students to help keep the community clean. Let's not paint all kids with a broad brush - many kids and teens volunteer on community clean-up days.)

Daniel G. O'Brien

Teacher at Tewksbury Memorial High School

BURLINGTON - Daniel G. O'Brien, a man of faith, family, and love, died after a brief illness on Tuesday morning, May 20, 2014. He was 72.

Dan, son of the late Frank and Grace O'Brien, was born and raised in Somerville.

He was a 1959 graduate of Somerville High School. He graduated from Iona College with degrees in Spanish and Music.

Dan served as a member of the Irish Christian Brothers, which was one of the best known Catholic Teaching Orders. He served for 12 years at schools in Chicago and New Jersey, including Chapel Hill and Essex Catholic High School.

He was a passionate teacher but found that he did not need to be a Brother to teach children.

He went to work as a Spanish teacher at Tewksbury High School, where he taught for 26 years. Being a teacher was not a job, but rather a vocation. He engaged students with humor, concern, kindness and passion to encourage self-growth. He traveled with countless groups of students on exchange programs to Spain and England where they were immersed in the language and culture.

He was involved in 26 years of musicals at Tewksbury High School and St. Michael's CYO, which for many students was the highlight of their high school years. He was not only a great teacher, but a memorable one, and he influenced and guided thousands of students to be independent, well rounded, and respected adults.

Dan's presence and influence was evident at home, in the community, and at his church. He loved music and he shared that gift with his children and grandchildren. He found a wonderful home at St. Eulalia Church, where he was a member of the choir for over 35 years. He sang in many operas in Boston. Holiday gatherings at the O'Brien house were always filled with laughter, music, song and of course an overabundance of delicious food prepared by Dan.

He was a devoted husband to his wife, Marilyn, a fellow teacher at Tewksbury High School. They shared 39 years together, raising a family, traveling the world, and bringing meaning to each other's lives.

He was a loving, caring and encouraging father to his three children. He was always there to support them in their life's choices and to lend a helping hand. His greatest joy was being

"Papi" to his eight grandchildren. Whether he was watching them play sports, accompanying them to Grandparents' Breakfasts, attending their concerts or caring for them while their parents worked, Dan saw it as a welcomed gift of time shared with those he loved. Dan will always be remembered for his humor, kindness, concern, cooking skills, and most importantly, the love he shared with all those who came into his life.

Dan was the loving husband of Marilyn P. (Coyne). He was the loving father of Paul of Salem, N.H., Jennifer Ahern and her husband Richard of Pepperell and Jessica Card and her husband Gary of Dracut. ## This spring, remember For Road Riders and Drivers, It's Safety First

By SHERYL WALSH
Town Crier Correspondent
Sheryl@YourTownCrier.com

Warmer weather has arrived and bikes are out of storage. Pedaling cyclists and motorists will be sharing the road again in greater numbers. While that is good news in many ways, it also indicates an increase risk for the riders and drivers who navigate our town streets.

According to the US National Highway Traffic Safety Administration, we average 705 pedal cyclist deaths a year in this country. Another 50,000 riders are injured. Most incidents involve vehicles. The Commonwealth has laws to assist both riders and drivers in maintaining a safe, courteous environment on the roads.

Cyclists take note. You must obey all the traffic laws to include, but not limited to, giving a turn signal and giving pedestrians the right of way. Other laws include mandatory helmets for riders under the age of 16. But safety experts recommend a helmet for everyone.

Of particular interest is the fact that by law cyclists can ride two abreast, however they must not impede traffic or cause an unsafe situation. Also, while it seems common sense and perhaps common knowledge that lights are required at night, many riders may not know that in addition reflectors are required on your bike pedals or your ankles.

Motor vehicle drivers have rules too. They must pass at a safe distance. They cannot turn abruptly to the right after passing a bike. Drivers must yield to cyclists before turning left. This includes bikes that are to the side of regular traffic lanes (e.g. on the shoulder) who may be difficult to see.

Being alert is key. Drivers must be in the habit again of looking for the smaller less obvious bike traffic that is on the road now. To this end, Massachusetts law has gone so far as to outline the requirement for drivers and their passengers to look for cyclists coming down the road as they open the doors of parked cars.

MASS.GOV provides more complete information on bike safety and laws. Check the Tourism & Recreation page.

They also include a link (under Bicycle Laws) to the Massachusetts Bicycle Coalition (MassBike) website, a non-profit organization for promoting riding and supporting cycling enthusiasts. Enjoy the road... all of you.

Excitement Builds for Bike Safety Rodeo

TEWKSBURY - The Tewksbury Police Department, in conjunction with Tewksbury Rail Trails is pleased to announce the participation of several local partners in it's Annual Bike Rodeo. The bicycle safety event will be held on Sunday, June 8, 2014 from 10:00AM-1:00PM at Tewksbury Memorial High School, 320 Pleasant Street, Tewksbury. Bicycle safety is critically important, and helmets are the law for riders aged 16 and younger.

Bring your bike to the rodeo and get it inspected for safety, have a helmet fitting, try the obstacle course, and be entered in a drawing for a chance to win donated prizes. This is a great event for the whole family, and you needn't have a bike to participate. Even the littlest participants can walk through or be pulled in a wagon.

Involvement from the Tewksbury business community includes Enterprise Bank, The Pushcart Café, Orange Leaf Frozen Yogurt, Walgreens, Wendy's, Friendly's, Papa Gino's Heartland Plaza, Tewksbury Community Services, Met Tewksbury Police Officer Kathy McLeod fitted Eric Impink with a new helmet at the bicycle rodeo last year. The annual event is free and open to residents. Bring your bikes to TMHS on June 8, learn how to ride safely on roads, and get bikes and helmets checked.

Tips to Get Fit this Summer

(StatePoint) Everybody wants to be in shape for bathing suit season, but all those fun seasonal activities - from barbecues to vacations to baseball games - can derail a diet.

Here are some tips to help you get fit, so you can look and feel your best all summer:

Vacations

It's tempting to leave healthy habits behind when heading out of town. But an off week can permanently wreck your diet.

When possible, opt for active vacations, such as camping trips or touring a city by foot. If you're planning a more sedentary getaway, stay somewhere with a fitness facility.

Vacations can be rare, so don't sacrifice all the treats of the trip. Prioritize meal-time indulgences so you can enjoy yourself mindfully. For travel days, pack healthful snacks such as fresh fruit, nuts and yogurt as alternatives to high-calorie airport or roadside food.

Daily Diet

It's important to assess whether you're eating the foods you need to get "fit," versus foods that merely encourage weight loss, say experts.

"Unfortunately, many fad diets can leave you feeling fatigued, sluggish or undernourished," says Andrew Eckhardt, Owner and Founder of ThinSlim Foods and a veteran diet food consumer.

To eat right, don't starve yourself. Stock up on fruits and vegetables, low-fat dairy and lean meats. And just because you're slimming down or maintaining your already svelte figure, doesn't mean you need to sacrifice your favorite foods or go carb-free.

"Alternative foods can allow you to enjoy favorite options without expending your calorie budget in one meal," says Eckhardt.

Try replacing standard cake or wheat flours with healthy alternatives, like oat fiber and almond fiber. In one shot, you'll cut calories and increase your protein and fiber intake. If regular baking is unrealistic, look for brands that replace low-quality inexpensive flours and sugar substitutes with good-for-you alternatives.

For example, ThinSlim Foods, makes brownies, cookies, bagels, bread and even pizza using healthful ingredients like oat fiber, almond flour and the all-natural sweetener Erythritol. These low fat and low carb foods eliminate artificial flavors, preservatives, high-fructose corn syrup and synthetic colors. They also have 50 to 70 percent less carbs and fat compared to other market options. The brand's master bakers worked alongside nutritional experts to confirm that they are appropriate for gluten-free, hypoglycemia and other digestive and dietary sensitivities.

More information about healthfully incorporating baked goods into your diet can be found at www.ThinSlimFoods.com.

Exercise

Summer is a great opportunity to start a fitness regimen that you can stick with all year. You should strive to get at least two and a half hours a week of moderate-intensity aerobic physical activity, preferably spread throughout the week, according to the Department of Health and Human Services.

Additionally, you should incorporate muscle-strengthening activities into your regimen to stay strong and improve your metabolism. A workout buddy can help you stay motivated.

Wherever summer takes you, you can look and feel great, while enjoying all your favorite foods and activities.

Services, said that Memorial Day began about 150 years ago, and "the meaning of this day is still important."

Honoring Memorial Day allows us to "never forget these brave men and women," he said. As a nation, we appreciate their service. We have an obligation to them, he said.

Massachusetts, he said, has the best Veterans' Services Department in the United States.

Representative Jim Miceli agreed. Memorial Day, he said, is a time "of remembrance and reflection," one in which we "reflect on the valor" of those who have paid the ultimate sacrifice.

"You can't say enough about the folks who made that sacrifice," Miceli said. And he, along with Representative Ken Gordon and Lou Cimaglia, honored Sgt. First Class Thomas Wallis, whom he called a real hero, with a citation. Wallis served in Vietnam and earned a Silver Star, two Bronze Stars, a Combat Infantry Badge, a Purple Heart, and an Air Medal with V Device for acts of heroism.

Senator Bruce Tarr called Memorial Day one of our most solemn occasions, and he discussed the VA scandal in Washington. It is important that the nation says "that is unacceptable," he said.

New Board of Selectmen Chairman Judy O'Connell said she was "truly humbled" to be at the ceremony. She said that the essence of the day is our armed forces.

Town Manager Jeff Hull said that the United States is "blessed with many soldiers" who have done great things, referencing George Washington, George Patton, among others. But there are many who have not become world-historical figures but who have still made the same sacrifices, he said.

Many of them did not have the opportunity to graduate from high school. Others put their dreams on hold to fulfill their obligations, he said. "Today is a day of remembrance for those whose lives were cut short" by answering the call of duty, he said. Cimaglia then introduced Pat McGarry, a 2007 graduate of Wilmington High School and a former Marine.

Cimaglia said that McGarry, who served as a machine gunner, and his squad came under attack. He stabilized injured casualties. For his efforts, he was awarded the Purple Heart. Initially, he declined it.

Cimaglia presented him with it during the ceremony.

Cimaglia ended the day by reading the names of those Killed and Missing in Action, making the sacrifices honored on Memorial Day tangible and real.

being a firefighter."

Hull added that when Bradbury served as the president of the firefighters' union, he knew that he'd be encountering a "very reasonable individual."

"It just made for a more constructive relationship," said Hull.

"In the end, I think he served the Town of Wilmington very well," he added. "I wish him the best in his retirement."

"He's an amazing fire technician," praised Assistant Town Manager Kendra Amaral. "One of the best in the state in terms of prevention and suppression of fire."

Bradbury maintained a strong relationship with town leadership over the years, advising on the purchases of new equipment, including ambulances, tower and ladder trucks, and decades of budget work. He was sworn-in as chief in May 2008. Bradbury worked to save lives, investigate arson, respond to school and community emergencies, collaborate with colleagues in the Fire and Police departments, the DPW, public buildings, the school department, and stay on top of the latest techniques in fire fighting.

At their Tuesday meeting, the Board of Selectmen also offered their praise and well wishes.

"I just want to wish him all the best in his retirement," said Selectman Mike Newhouse.

Board of Selectman Chairman Judy O'Connell and Selectman Mike Champoux also offered their congratulations.

Motel Caswell to become Wamesit Lanes

By JAYNE W. MILLER
News Editor

Jayne@YourTownCrier.com

TEWKSBURY - A team of local businessmen announced Tuesday they reached an agreement to purchase the Motel Caswell property for $2.1 million and develop a multi-million dollar family entertainment complex on the 4.3 acre site near Route 495.

Donald MacLaren, his son Donny, and Steve Bourgeois appeared with Town Manager Richard Montuori and Director of Community Development Steve Sadwick at the Pike House to announce the venture.

The MacLarens, Tewksbury natives, own a locally based welding company and have deep roots in the community. Bourgeois, also a thirty-year resident, joined the MacLarens to work in marketing, business development, and staffing.

The group announced they reached a purchase and sale agreement with Russ Caswell, owner and operator of the Motel Caswell, 450 Main Street, for $2.1 million.

The group proposes a 45,000 square foot family entertainment center for the site offering 32 lanes of ten-pin bowling, 8 of which will be private VIP lanes, an upscale restaurant and lounge, outside dining with fire pits and bocce courts, private birthday and corporate meeting rooms, six golf simulators, and 5,000 square foot redemption arcade. The restaurant, bar, and patio will offer a combined 5,000 square feet and serve about 150 people.

The group aims to open in fall 2015 and estimates the project will cost $12 million.

Donald MacLaren approached Caswell six months ago to purchase the land, which has an ideal location close to I-495 to draw customers from neighboring towns. Initially, Caswell had an offer on the property, so the group looked at thirty other parcels. Only one other, further on Main Street, was seriously considered before a new arrangement was coordinated for the Caswell. MacLaren indicated that they also looked at the defunct Funland Property on Main Street, but did not consider it due to wetland and flooding issues at the rear of the parcel.

The aesthetic of the proposed building, designed by Jack Sullivan of Gavin and Sullivan Architects in Lowell, aims to emphasize the Native American Wamesit Tribe heritage in the region through architecture and décor.

"We wanted to bring back something that this town has had historically, an emotional attachment, [to the Wamesit Tribe]," said Donald MacLaren. "It will give the ability to educate the younger people on the tribe."

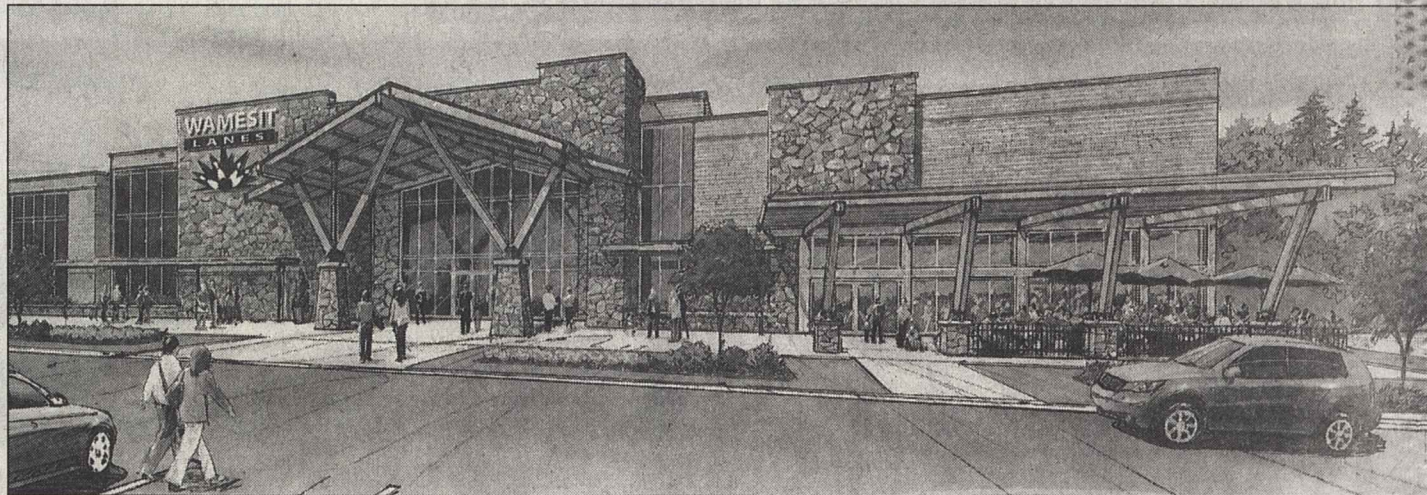

Tewksbury previously had a Wamesit Lanes bowling alley on the current Home Depot property.

"We view it very strongly, that this is not just a good thing for the town, it's a good thing for the area," said Bourgeois.

"We hope it will be win-win for everybody," said Donald. "We have a perfect piece of property, accessibility to 495 is huge."

The group has a consulting arrangement with Brunswick Bowling and Billiards, a large Illinois based corporation that earned $3.7B in revenue in 2012. Brunswick also owns numerous marine boats and engine brands, including Bayliner and Mercury, and fitness brands Lifefitness and Hammer Strength.

MacLaren stated that Brunswick conducted a feasibility study for the site, showing "every metric was off the charts for this parcel."

Lowell hosts the only Brunswick location in Massachusetts.

Before the sale can close, however, the development must complete the town's process through the Planning Board and Zoning Board of Appeals, beginning next month. Montuori indicated that a traffic study would also be done, as well as infrastructure checks including sewer. The group will also need to address some issues with the state vis a vis poles, sidewalks, and crosswalks.

The MacLarens believe Wamesit Lanes will create 80-100 new jobs, with about 40 full-time positions. Jobs include management, waitresses, bartenders, maintenance, sales and marketing staff, and 'high school jobs' in the arcade.

While Montuori has not yet calculated the economic impact to the town he estimates the proposal will bring in more revenue than the current Motel Caswell particularly through the meals tax.

"I see nothing but positives coming out of this proposal," said Montuori.

Linda:
"The best outcome of this weight loss is how I feel."

At just over 5 feet tall, Linda Sobalo weighed 256 pounds by the time she was 50.

"I was very uncomfortable as the weight piled on," the Billerica resident says. "I was a nurse at the prison, always on my feet, and my knees started hurting. I was having shortness of breath and chest pain, and my bones were always aching."

She'd tried dieting, even losing 80 pounds once. Then she gained it all back, admitting that she ate "like a sumo wrestler; instead of having one sub, I'd have two."

The turning point came when she went to Disney World with her granddaughter, and couldn't walk around the park comfortably. "I was out of breath and my legs were killing me, too," Sobalo says. "I realized I had to do something."

Inspired by a co-worker who had undergone gastric bypass surgery at Lowell General Hospital's Center for Weight Management and Bariatric Surgery, Sobalo decided to have the surgery herself in September 2003. She was 51.

"It was the best thing I ever did," she says. Ten years later, she's maintained a 100-plus-pound weight loss, and her aching joints, shortness of breath and chest pain have gone away.

have occurred over the years and many residents have contacted the town to express their concern about the hazardous conditions and to express their frustration with the lack of progress towards completing the project."

The town, he wrote, has expended nearly $94,000 in design services. The project is expected to cost $1.6 million.

Later in the meeting, Hull noted that Kinder Morgan, the parent company for Tennessee Gas, plans to run a natural gas pipeline through Wilmington.

In a letter to the Board of Selectmen, he wrote that he "advised Chairman O'Connell that I have been contacted by a representative of Kinder Morgan... seeking authorization to conduct preliminary survey work on Town property."

"After consulting with Michael Woods, DPW Director, about the areas under Water Division jurisdiction and reviewing the permission form with Lou Ross, Esq. from Town Counsel's office, I executed the permission form," he continued. "The proposed pipeline appears to be at a very early stage of consideration."

A representative from Kinder Morgan will be asked to attend a Board of Selectmen meeting in either July or in August.

NOTEWORTHY:

• Hull said that on May 16 he with Kathleen Black-Reynolds, Chairman of the Historical Commission, and the Town Curator, Terry McDermott, regarding the Whitefield School and the Butters Farm. The Commission will submit its analysis of the Whitefield School by December 31, 2014. Hull said that the town is looking to sell the Butters Farm to a private owner. The sale will contain deed restrictions that protect the historic features and value.

• The Board of Selectmen unanimously approved Selectman Mike Champoux to be its liaison to the Historical Commission.

• The Yentile Farm Park survey is underway. It is available at www.wilmingtonma.gov. Residents can obtain paper versions at the Town Hall, the Wilmington Memorial Library, and the Buzzell Senior Center. The deadline for responses is Friday, June 20. Selectman Judy O'Connell said that they're entering the final stage of the design process and are interested in feedback.

Overall great game that came down to a nice stop in the field by the Blue Jays to halt the sixth inning rally that the Giants were putting together.

Diamondbacks 12, Giants 8
In AAA action, the Diamondbacks squared off Thursday against the Giants in a rematch of the previous week's matchup in which the Giants rallied in the bottom of the sixth to pull out a victory.

Wildcats take Scanlon Tourney; gear up for playoffs

By JAMIE POTE
Sports Editor

Jamiepote@hotmail.com

The Wilmington High School Baseball team finished up its regular season on fire by topping both Concord-Carlisle and Chelmsford to win the Scanlon Memorial tournament for the first time in at least 13 years held this past weekend at the Scanlon Field.

The two wins ended the Wildcats regular season with a record of 13-7 including winning five of the team's last six games.

Their 13-7 record was good enough for the No. 7 seed in the upcoming Division 2 North Sectional tournament. Wilmington drew league foe Arlington, the No. 10 seed (11-9) in a first round match-up to be played Thursday at 4 pm back at Scanlon Field. Wilmington was defeated by Arlington 6-1 back on May 5th.

Should Wilmington prevail over Arlington, it would then move on to the quarterfinals to face the No. 2 seed Masconomet Chieftains at their place on Saturday at 1 pm. Masco is currently 18-2 on the season and are the returning Division 2 North Sectional Champions losing in the EMass Finals to Hingham, 2-1.

This will be Wilmington's first tournament appearance since 2012. That year Wilmington finished 11-10 overall losing to Lynn Classical, 4-2 in the first round. The year before, Wilmington finished 10-11 overall losing to Beverly 3-2 in the first round.

Back in 2010, Wilmington knocked off Winchester in the first round 9-6, before losing to Masconomet 3-0 in the quarterfinals.

This past weekend, Wilmington won the Scanlon Memorial Tournament for the first time in at least the past 13 years. In the first game, Wilmington defeated Concord-Carlisle, 4-0 as sophomore Jackson Gillis tossed a complete game shut out, notching his sixth win of the season. He gave up just two hits while walking four and striking out nine.

Offensively, Evan Raffi singled in Brian Cavanaugh and Devin Field in the second inning giving Wilmington all of the runs it would need. But the Wildcats added single runs in the fifth and sixth innings. Cavanaugh drove in Gillis with a sacrifice fly in the fifth, and then Mike Curtis singled in Matt Spurr in the sixth.

Also in the mix was Jimmy Davey, who had three hits and stole two bases.

The next day, Wilmington edged out Chelmsford 2-1 in the championship game. Curtis was the winning pitcher as he went the distance giving up two hits while walking four and striking out five.

Chelmsford scored its only run in the top of the fourth inning and the score stayed that way until the 'Cats scored two runs in the home half of the seventh for the walk-off victory.

With one out and the bases empty, Gillis started the rally with a single to center. He moved to second on a groundball out and was lifted for a pinchrunner, Joe Scurto. Cavanaugh followed with a two-out, two strike single to right field to score Scurto and tie the game up at 1-1. Jamie Hill then came off the bench as a pinch hitter and struck a double to deep right center field to score Cavanaugh with the game winning run.

Jim Murphy, Corey Stillings and Ryan Carroccino had the other hits for Wilmington.

Cavanaugh, Davey and Gillis made the All-Tournament Team while Curtis was named the Tournament's MVP.

All-Stars

The Middlesex League announced its 15-member all-star squad last week and WHS Sophomore Jackson Gillis was named the Middlesex League Freedom Division's Most Valuable Player.

Also making the list were seniors Mike Curtis and Jimmy Davey as well as junior Jamie Hill.

Redmen Boys Lax team to face Wakefield in tourney opener

By MIKE IPPOLITO
Sports Correspondent

sports@yourtowncrier.com
TEWKSBURY – It's amazing how quickly things have changed for the Tewksbury High Boys Lacrosse team.

Three years ago when the Redmen qualified for their first ever state tournament berth, there was a sense of accomplishment in just winning enough games to qualify for the post season led by a talented group of sophomores and freshmen.

And last year when the Redmen captured their first ever MVC Division 2 championship and hosted a tournament game for the first time, there was an equal sense of accomplishment despite losing a first round heartbreaker to Arlington by a score of 11-10.

But this season, after a second consecutive MVC Division 2 title, you get the feeling that things are different for the Redmen (13-7), who will open post season play in the quarterfinals of the Division 2 North Tournament on Saturday afternoon at Wakefield (14-4) at 2:00 pm.

The Redmen will not be happy with a one and done appearance this season. They are after much more.

Of course, while the expectations are higher than ever for the No. 7 seed Redmen, so is the competition level as they will face a stiff challenge in No. 2 Wakefield, a team that already defeated them by a score of 9-8 back on April 19 in Tewksbury.

That win for the Warriors was their third in a row at the time, on their way to winning 12 straight games before finally losing in their season finale against Melrose in a game that not only decided the Middlesex League title, but also determined the top seed in the Division 2 North Tournament. Melrose took with a 15-3 overall record.

Tewksbury coach Joe Ginsburg knows his team has a tough task ahead, but he also knows that they will be ready, particularly having faced their talented opponents earlier in the season.

"They were as good as advertised. I was told they moved the ball extremely well on offense and had some guys who could make plays and they did," Ginsburg said. "We were missing James Sullivan that game and he can really make a difference, so there is certainly the thought of what would have happened had he been there. They (Wakefield) only got better as their season went on so I expect it to be a much tougher game."

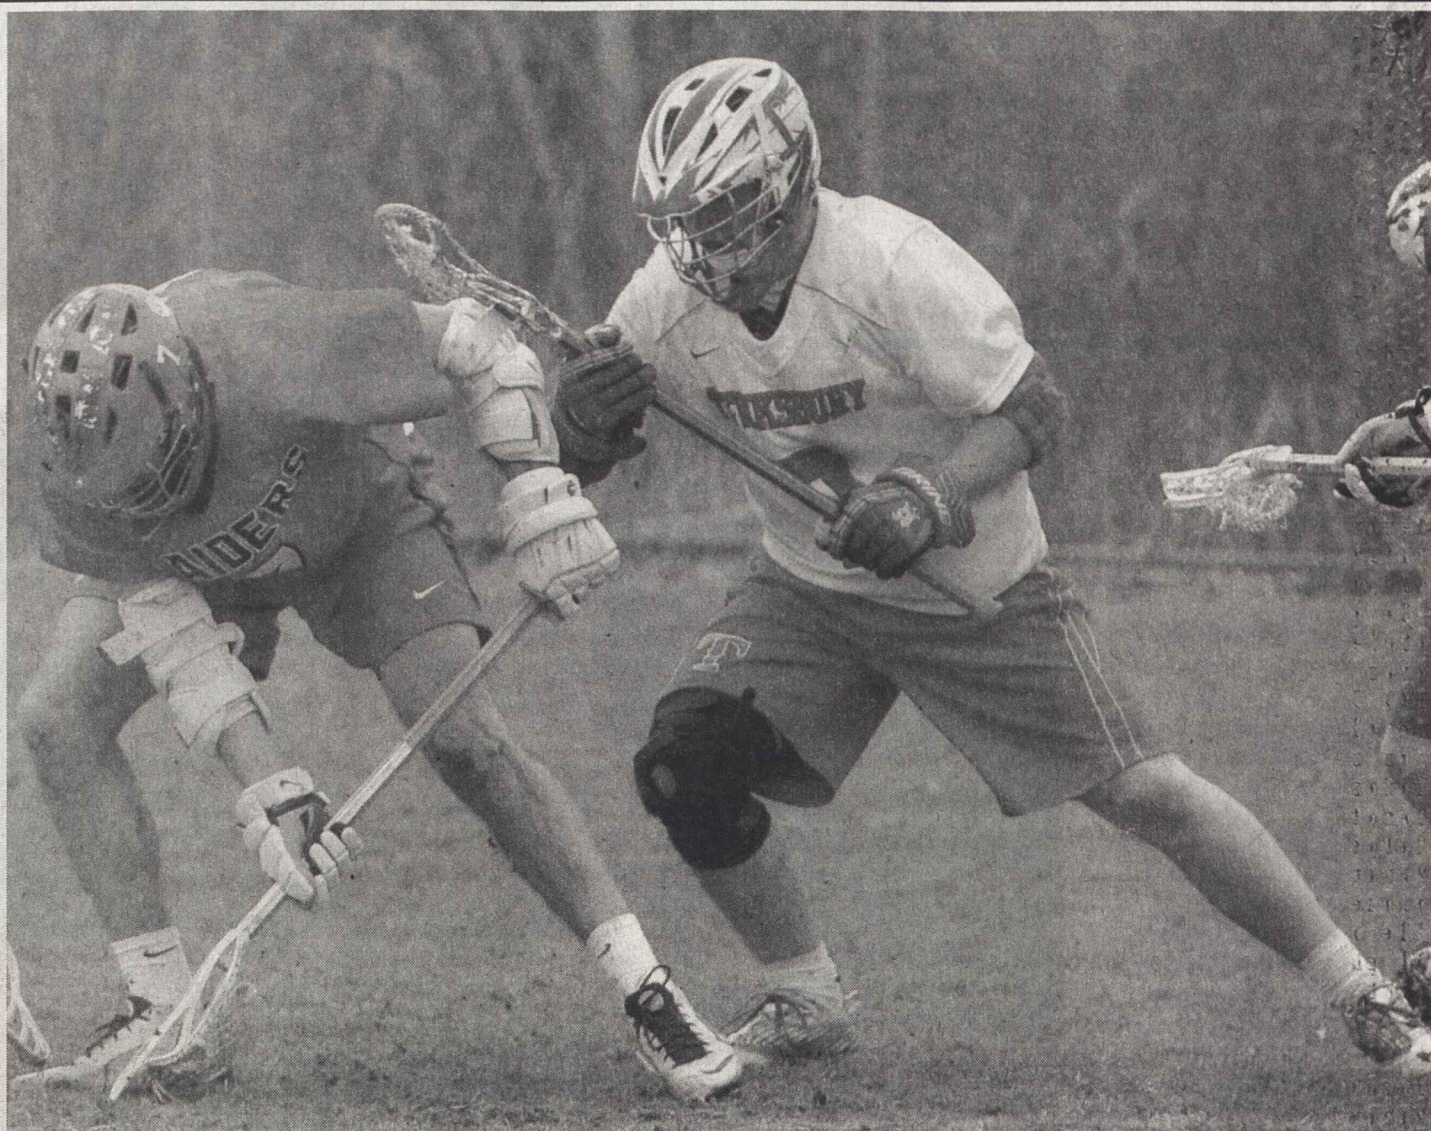

Having faced the Warriors before, Ginsburg and his team know what to expect, but he also knows there are limitations to that experience.

"It certainly helps when you can look back and see which players may have hurt you the most and who shined for our team, but we played so long ago now that there's no guarantee they do all the same things or use all the same calls," Ginsburg said. "Like I said before we were missing Sullivan, but they also then went on a pretty impressive streak winning over ten straight games before losing their last game to a tough team."

"We'll definitely spend more time focusing on what we can do better this time around, rather than stress too much about what they may be doing."

While the Redmen will certainly have to contend with a talented Wakefield team that outscored their opponents 153-54 during that 12 game winning streak, the Warriors must also prepare for a Tewksbury team that can not only put the ball in the net, but also does a great job of keeping it out of their own, led by a trio of high scoring attacks including senior Johnny Aylward with 51 goals and 14 assists, David Dempsey (38 goals, 10 assists) and Colin Quinn (27 goals, 17 assists) along with junior midfielder James Sullivan (27 goals, 11 assists).

Defensively, they have been led by the outstanding goaltending of senior Mike Brawley who has made 235 saves with a save percentage of 66 percent, as well as senior Kevin Dick who has come up with 84 groundballs and junior midfielder Tom Casey, who has 204 face-off wins on the season.

Those young sophomores who were once just happy to be there, are now tournament veterans who have plenty of post season experience.

"That experience is very helpful," Ginsburg said. "Especially when five or six of them played significant time in the previous two tournaments. Now we just have to put that experience to use."

Ginsburg is hoping that the post season experience will be one factor in helping the Redmen deal with the long layoff between their last regular season game back on May 22nd and Saturday's faceoff with Wakefield.

"I am not a big fan of the long layoff, but it gives some of our guys a chance to get healthy and work on some things we have been struggling with the last couple weeks," Ginsburg said. "We just have to try and keep things competitive and make sure everyone stays focused."

While the past two seasons have been great for Ginsburg and the Redmen with a pair of league titles, the coach also knows that a post season victory would be a huge milestone for the Tewksbury Lacrosse program.

"A tournament win would mean a lot to Tewksbury Lacrosse. We were so close last year and just seeing the amount of people who showed up (at the tournament game) including the younger lacrosse kids was really great for the program," Ginsburg said. "We want to get the younger players excited to play for the high school team and work hard to keep up what we have done the last few years."

Casey ready for tough face-off

TEWKSBURY – When the Tewksbury High Boys Lacrosse team opens up state tournament play on Saturday afternoon at Wakefield High, they will be relying on many players to lead them to victory, from high scoring attack men to powerful defenders, but there is one player who will be a big key to any success the Redmen hope to have who may surprise those who do not follow the team closely.

Tewksbury junior Tom Casey may be the best player on the Redmen you have never heard of. Officially, his position is midfielder, but unofficially his role is an ever growing position in lacrosse known as "face off/get off" where he takes every face-off for the Redmen and then will either stay on the field or leave for a replacement depending on who has possession and on which side of the field the action is taking place.

His role for the Redmen is a huge one and it is one that he has excelled at from the start of the season, winning 204 face-offs on the season for the MVC Division 2 champions.

"It's the first play of the game every game so it's extremely important to try and get that first face-off win. More often than not that is exactly what happens for us with Tom," Tewksbury coach Joe Ginsburg said. "He's been almost unstoppable the last two seasons and can be a game changer especially against tougher teams."

Casey, who did not begin playing lacrosse until his freshman year of high school, has grown to love his specialized role with the Redmen, one that he eagerly volunteered for during his first-year with the team.

"I tried playing defense at first but I did not do real well there and I felt like I could do well on faceoffs so I told the coach (Ginsburg) that I wanted to try it," Casey said. "It's something I have really liked doing because I know I am helping the team."

While Casey's specializes in winning face-offs for the Redmen, it is not his only role with the team, and Ginsburg knows he can count on the junior midfielder to fill a variety of roles for the Redmen, with even better days to come as he gains more experience.

"Tom also plays on the defensive side of the ball as a short stick defensive midfielder," Ginsburg said. "He's very strong and physical, but definitely still a raw talent with a lot of potential. He fights for everything and sometimes that can get the team going if we're not playing as well as we'd like."

Of course, wanting to be the faceoff specialist and actually being good at it are two entirely different things. Many players would probably like to hold such an important role on the team, but are simply not capable of doing so.

How exactly then, does a player with less than two years of experience playing at the varsity level become so adept at such a specialized role? Casey, who was also a fullback and linebacker with the Redmen's Super Bowl winning football team this past season, credits his family for his natural ability particularly his older brothers Ryan, a junior at Salem State and Mike, who will be a college freshman in the fall, both of whom played on the Redmen's state championship hockey team in 2011.

"I think it's just playing sports my whole life," Casey said. "I love faceoffs because it's just me and the other guy and it's all about winning a one on one battle. Growing up with two older brothers that's how I had to do it."

"Everything we did was competitive growing up whether it was making up games or playing wiffle ball in the back yard. I was the youngest one so I got pushed around a lot, but it was all worth it. It helped me be a better player in all sports."

Casey certainly proved his worth with the Redmen Football team on their way to the state title, including a key interception return for a touchdown in the Division 3 Northeast finals against Marblehead that helped seal the victory and a rushing touchdown in an earlier playoff win against Melrose.

Casey is joined on the Redmen by fellow football players Kevin Dick, Johnny Aylward and James Sullivan among others, and he says that their championship experience, although in a different sport, will be valuable in the lacrosse post season.

"That was an incredible experience. We were on a mission from the start of the season and we just worked so hard so it was great to finally win it," Casey said. "I think that helps us in that we know what's ahead of us and what it takes to be a championship caliber team. We had some close games along the way (to the Super Bowl) so we know what it takes to grind it out."

Ginsburg has taken note of Casey's championship experience and see an emerging leader for the Redmen both this season and in years to come.

"I can definitely see Tom being a leader on the team in the future and I see it from time to time during games as well," Ginsburg said. "He's the kind of player you want to be a leader on your team, good kid, hard worker, and knows how to focus. I'd like to see him expand his role as a player on the team in the future, but right now he does everything we ask and I've been really happy with his performance this year."

ANDOVER -- The Tewksbury Memorial High School Girls and Boys Outdoor Track teams competed at the annual Merrimack Valley Conference Championship Meet on Saturday.

The girls finished fourth out of eleven teams with 59.5 points, trailing Andover (110), Central Catholic (71.5) and Chelmsford (60) and were led by two first place finishes, Jess Amedee in the 100-meter hurdles and Chelsea Porcaro throwing 128 feet in the discus to set a meet record.

The boys team finished in 10th place out of 11 teams with 17 points.

Girls Team

Besides Amedee and Porcaro taking first, Tewksbury had four other individuals score points and two relay teams as well. Porcaro also was second in the shot put (35-03.25) while Jess Ripley was tied for second in the pole vault clearing 9-6. Last Wednesday she broke the school record in the event as she cleared 9-8 at the MVC Invite surpassing Janelle Lafreniere's mark of 9-7 back in 2004.

Finishing behind Amedee in the 100-meter hurdles included Lindsey Monti with a fourth (16.38) and Kendall Pabellia with a sixth place (16.84).

Rounding out the place finishers were two relay teams. The 4x800 team of Sara Semenza, Emily Sessa, Carina Berglund and Lauren Polimeno finished third with a combined time of 9:58.40 and then the 4x100 team of Amedee, Ashley Callahan, Paoella and Monti finished fourth at 52.03.

"We have personal bests almost completely across the board," said coach John Byrnes. "I think some of it is due to the fact that it's a perfect day but the other part of it is these kids have worked so hard all year so it's nice to see everything come together for us."

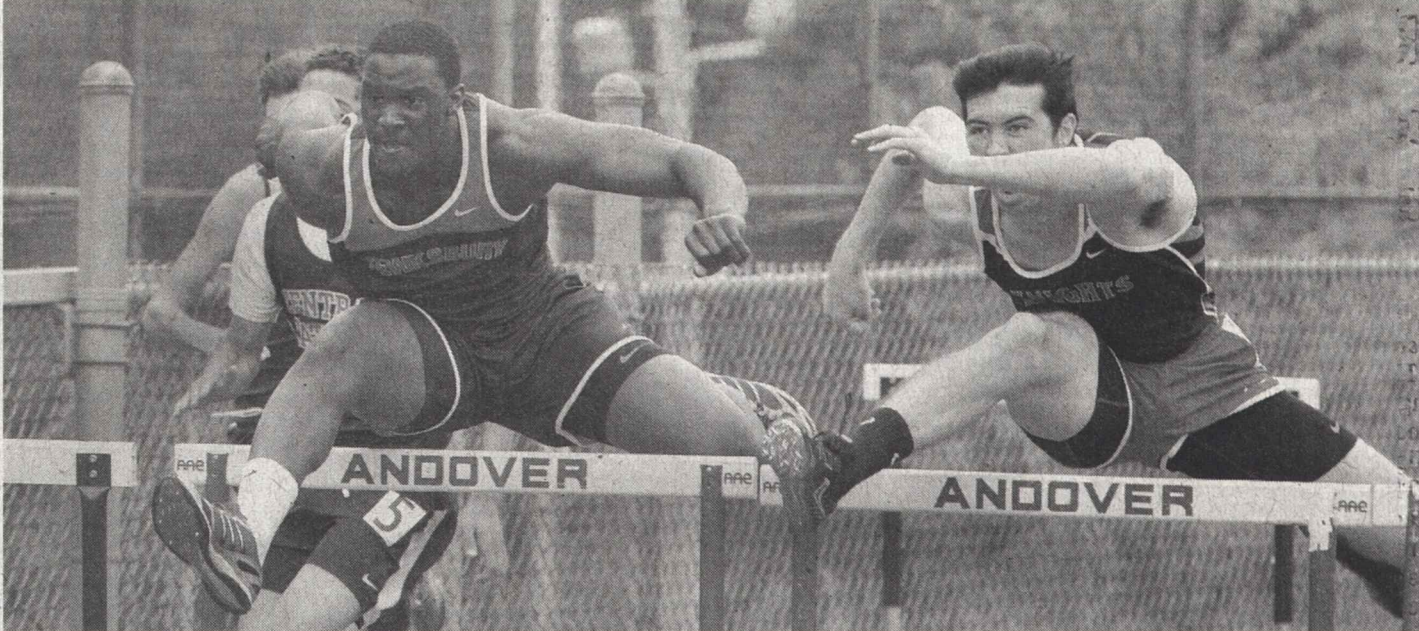

"I think we had a personal record in every hurdle, in almost every sprint and distance event and we had some unbelievable performances in the throwing events and we had some good performances in the jumps as well."

"Taking fourth place is a big surprise to me. I didn't expect to beat any of the large schools today. It's good and we've been on so to speak lately."

Just missing out on placing included seventh places by Semenza in the 400 (1:01.47), Molly Robertson in the 400-meter hurdles (1:11.72), Amedee in the high jump (4-9), Michelle Creedon in the javelin (89-00) while the 4x400 relay team of Colarusso, Sara Catanzano, Mel Somerville and Kaley O'Neill finished 8th with a combined time of 4:22.24.

Rounding out the performances in the running events include: Jen Schultz (10th, 13.83) and Somerville (12th, 13.90) in the 100; Katie Garcia (14th, 28.62) and Paige Winn (17th, 28.80) in the 200; Sessa 13th, 1:03.55 in the 400; Caitlin Leary (14th, 2:35.81) and Bridget Blair (15th, 2:36.98) in the 800; Berglund was 11th at 5:34.24 in the mile and Callahan was 11th in the 100-hurdles at 17.17.

In the field events other competitors include: Colarusso 9th, 8-6) and Somerville (15th, 7-6) in the pole vault; Olivia Gallella (10th, 31-10) and Samantha Parker (16th, 30-07.50) in the triple jump; Erin Davis was 17th in the shot put throwing 28-03.75), Creedon was 10th in the discus at 86-05) and Kendyl Spinelli was 11th in the javelin throwing 81-08.

Turning to the Boys team, they had four athletes place in the top six to score points. Eddie Matovu was second in the 110-meter hurdles with a time of 15.21 seconds.

"Eddie got second place in the hurdles and just missed taking first," said head coach Peter Fortunato. "We are lucky to have him healthy right now. He has been dealing with hamstring problems all season so we've been backing off to keep him healthy and now things are started to come along so I'm excited to see what he can do next week as well. He ultimately wanted to get first place - especially since he got first last year, but I was happy that he ran well and that he was healthy."

The Coach was beyond ecstatic with the performance of Joey Darrigo, who finished third in the two mile with a time of 9:52.99 which was just a second off taking first place.

"Joey Darrigo had the best day out of anybody," he said. "He took third place in the two mile. He finished under ten minutes for the first time and he crushed it by running a 9:52 and he was just a second off of winning.

"When he came here as a freshman, he could barely do a six minute mile and now is averaging faster than five minutes (per mile) in the two mile. Joey just ran incredible. He was phenomenal. His time of 9:52 today came out of nowhere. His best time before was 10:04 and he took twelve seconds off his previous best."

Senior Steve DeFrancesco was fifth in the shot put throwing 46-00.50 and junior Ryan Bednarek was sixth in the pole vault clearing 10-6.

"Ryan had a good day. He did well," said Fortunato. "This is his last meet of the season as he can't go to the state meet but he's an athletic kid who we will have back next year so this was a good day for him."

"Steve DeFrancesco got us two points with a fifth place finish. He was slotted as the fifth seed, has been consistent all season and had a good day by taking fifth and it'll be good to see what he can do next week at the state meet."

Also competing but not placing in the running events included: Connor Blair (7th, 52.85) and Derek McGaffigan (14th, 54.93) in the 400; Rory Foley (12th, 2:08.52) and Dom

Rosmarinofski (18th, 2:12.24) in the 800; Bednarek (19th, 25.26) and Kyle McFadden (20th, 25.34) in the 200; Dennis Ong in the 100 (11th, 11.80), Mike Famiglietti (9th, 4:34.81) and Mario Fuchu (14th, 4:43.55) in the mile; Anthony Darrigo in the two mile (7th, 10:01.10), Andrew Nguyen in the 110 hurdles (8th, 16.48) and Blake Hery in the 400 hurdles (9th, 1:01.20).

In the field events, Blair was 9th in the triple jump at 38-05 and was followed by Evan Saunders, who was 20th at 34-02.50. DeFrancesco was also 12th in the discus throwing 106-11 and Jon Zervas was 15th at 103-08. Mike Burns was 14th in the javelin with a toss of 129-02 and Peter Murray was 13th in the shot put throwing 41-01.

Overall this was a good day," said Fortunato. "We had a lot of personal records but we did come up short missing out on some points we should have received but at the same time we did better than we had expected."

McLaughlin gearing up for last hurrah

TEWKSBURY

Tewksbury Memorial High School senior Shannon McLaughlin is ending her time with the Redmen varsity softball team on the strongest note possible. As the team prepares to enter the state playoff tournament with a first round match-up at home on Friday against Newburyport, McLaughlin was awarded the Merrimack Valley Conference Division 1 Player of the Year award.

"I don't have words to describe how thankful I am and how honored I am to represent Tewksbury softball in that way," McLaughlin said.

The award is the perfect culmination to what has been an almost shockingly successful season for the Tewksbury Redmen.

With McLaughlin and Brooke Hardy as the only seniors on the team, the Redmen squad were faced with a season where the majority of the bench was made up of girls with little to no experience with the program or the game.

Instead of falling into disrepair, the Redmen have surged to a winning season, closing out their regular schedule with a record of 14-6 and the sixth seed in the state tournament.

"We've had a great season for such a young team," said McLaughlin. "At first we had a rocky start, but I think the team has started to click together and work well together. We've had a couple of tough losses, but they've mentally prepared us for the playoffs and make us ready to take the team as far as we can."

Forced into a leadership position, McLaughlin, alongside Hardy, has worked to impress upon the underclassman the skills and quality which constitute the Tewksbury softball program. Even though such a role can be demanding and frustrating, McLaughlin benefitted from senior role models in her own early career. As such, she was happy to pay the favor forward onto the next class of Redmen softball players.

"When I was a younger player, I would always look to the seniors to guide me," McLaughlin said. "I think our job is to keep things positive so everyone can keep moving forward. The toughest thing for Brooke and I was to teach them the rules of our team and show them that this is Tewksbury softball."

While the team has suffered some breakdowns over the course of the season, the girls have continued to evolve as individuals and as a unit. While a pair of losses to Chelmsford and Concord-Carlisle in the team's final two regular season games dented the team's momentum, McLaughlin is confident that the playoffs will be a strong showing for the Redmen.

"The only team that beat us is ourselves," McLaughlin said. "We need to focus on mentally staying focused in the games the whole time. I think what we really need to focus on is staying mentally tough. In our six losses, we only had six bad innings. We need to stay mentally focused and prepared in those games, and that will really help us."

For McLaughlin, this post-season is a chance to rectify last year's playoff run, which saw the team fall to Burlington in the Division 2 North Sectional finals, in a game in which McLaughlin was pitching.

"We played a great game," McLaughlin said. "We actually out-hit Burlington, but we don't always string along the hits that we need to score and win. We need to focus on getting those big runs early, because if we don't get them, we can't win."

Even after recent losses, McLaughlin is confident in both the team and herself. While softball is a physical game, its true subtleties lie in the mental aspect, an area in which McLaughlin has worked very hard to gain mastery of. She has learned her own weaknesses and honed her strengths, and it has resulted in a clear, razor sharp approach to dismantling batters.

"I am not a power pitcher whatsoever," she admitted. "I like to work the corners and keep the batters off balance. I trust my change-up, which keeps the runners off balance because they never know where the ball is coming from. It seems to work."

McLaughlin's game has constantly evolved, even as recently as this past season. When she realized that batters were getting ahead of her arm, she worked quickly to adjust so the opposition never had the chance for an easy hit.

"I would throw a lot of curveballs, and girls would crowd the plate and start hitting me," she said. "It was actually my Dad who suggested hitting the inside corner. The batters have to work their hands much faster than most of them can handle, and it throws the hitters completely off balance."

Regardless of how the season concludes, McLaughlin is finishing her time with the Redmen on top, an experience which has resulted in both tremendous pride and deeply felt sadness.

"It's bittersweet," McLaughlin said. "I think it's been really special because we get to represent Tewksbury in a really special way. Brooke and I can represent Tewksbury softball and our school."

Head coach Leo DiRocco said that what separates McLaughlin from the rest of the players is her mental toughness.

"Determination," he answered. "She's such a strong willed player. Before the Chelmsford game on Friday, we had planned on pitching someone else on Saturday against Concord-Carlisle. We lost to Chelmsford and as we were walking off the field I asked Shannon how she felt and she said 'give me the ball tomorrow, I'm ready to go'. That's just the type of kid and player that she is."

Doc added that McLaughlin has come a long way on the field whether it's as a leader, in the circle as a pitcher or in the batter's box.

"As a pitcher she really spots the ball but this year I think a lot of the umpires have been missing the inside corner and not calling it for strikes. But if she spots the ball like she can, we'll be in every game in the tournament."

"She's also cut down on her big swing at the plate and she's been hitting line shots everywhere."

Next fall, McLaughlin will be attending St. Anselm's College as a Business major, where she already has a guaranteed spot on the softball roster. While the future beckons, McLaughlin has not lost sight of the values and lessons instilled by her time with the Tewksbury softball program.

"It's more of a mental game, and it's helped me stay competitive and taught me so many lessons," she said. "You have to stay mentally tough and always be thinking. It challenges you mentally, and that's what attracted me to it. I just love the sport and love how you have to work so hard, and if you do, there's a position for everyone."

Lady Redmen to face Clippers in first round

By JAMIE POTE

Jamiepote@hotmail.com

Last year, the Tewksbury Memorial High School Softball team finished the season with a 14-6 record and marched right through the state tournament with wins over Wakefield (7-3), Danvers (8-5) and Reading (3-1) before losing a great battle to Burlington, 6-5 in the Division 2 North Sectional Finals.

Four starting players from that team are gone and have been replaced by a junior and three freshmen and the team hasn't skipped a beat, again posting a regular season record of 14-6.

That mark is good enough for the No. 6 seed in this year's tournament which gets underway this week. The Redmen will host the No. 11 seed Newburyport Clippers (11-9) on Friday afternoon at 4 pm at the Livingston Street Field complex.

"Besides one game where we gave up six runs, other than that we have been in every game this season," said head coach Leo DiRocco. "Of the 20 games, we have been in every one of them playing a lot of 3-2, 2-1 and 4-3 games."

"We lost to Chelmsford and Concord-Carlisle this past week by 3-2 scores and we just made some errors. But I think we have played one of the toughest schedules in the entire state and we have been every ballgame. I can't see us not playing well in the tournament."

"I feel confident that we can beat any team that we play as long as we play out game. The young kids have really handled themselves well this year and I'm confident that they will continue that and nothing will change."

Should Tewksbury defeat Newburyport, it will play the winner of No. 3 Arlington (16-4) or No. 14 Bedford (6-12) on Sunday with the time to be announced. If Arlington prevails, Tewksbury will travel to their place but if Bedford upsets the Spy Ponders, Tewksbury will be home again.

Arlington lost four games this season, splitting two games with Reading and Lexington and falling to Burlington and Wakefield. Burlington won the sectional title last year over Tewksbury and advanced to the state final losing to Grafton, 2-1. The Red Devils along with Danvers would seem to be the top two teams in this year's bracket.

In 2012, Tewksbury finished with a 13-7 regular season record and were defeated by Danvers 9-3 in the first round. The year before that, Tewksbury was 14-6 and went 2-1 in the tournament, beating Wilmington (8-1) and Marblehead (5-2) before falling to Reading (9-6).

In 2010, Tewksbury was again 14-6 and lost in the first round to Arlington Catholic, 1-0.

Since 2010, Tewksbury is a combined 74-35 including 5-4 mark in the playoffs.

The Redmen have indeed had a gruesome schedule and have gone 6-6 against seven teams which will be competing in the Division 1 North Sectional tournament. Tewksbury has only faced two teams in the Division 2 North Bracket, splitting two games with Dracut and also knocking off North Reading.

Tewksbury is led by its lone two seniors, MVC Division 1 Player of the Year Shannon McLaughlin, and all-conference selection Brooke Hardy, the team's shortstop.

Rams Baseball team hoping to crack the Cougars

BILLERICA -- It's been a sensational season for the Shawsheen Tech Baseball team, as they enter the Division 3 North Tournament as champions of the CAC Large with a 13-7 overall record earning them the No. 7 seed in the sectional.

The reward for their great season to this point, however, probably does not feel like much of a reward at all for the Rams as they will begin post season play on Friday afternoon by hosting No. 10 seed Arlington Catholic (13-7).

Throughout their outstanding season, the Rams have either won or been competitive in nearly every game with the only two exceptions coming against AC, against whom the Rams lost by a score of 9-4 back on April 11 and 11-4 on May 7.

Ironically, the very reason that a team as talented as Arlington Catholic is on Shawsheen's schedule is to help the Rams prepare for the type of competition they will likely face in post play.

"AC is certainly a good opponent and that is why we like to play teams like that during the season to help us get ready for the post season," Shawsheen coach Brian McCarthy said. "So we've got our work cut out for us. They took it to us pretty good both times we faced them."

Despite the Cougars success against the Rams this season, McCarthy knows his team, led by their four CAC All-Stars Matt Lucia of Tewksbury, James Gibb of Wilmington, Tim Lavoie and Shawn Costa, will not back down from their powerful opponents.

"We could look at them and cower but we won't," McCarthy said. "The kids have been resilient all year long and I think they will embrace the fact that they have AC again and they will try and get some revenge."

Rams Softball team draws familiar foe

By MIKE IPPOLITO
Sports Correspondent

sports@yourtowncrier.com

BILLERICA -- After two consecutive seasons of entering the state tournament as the number one seed, the Shawsheen Tech Softball team will enter this season's Division 3 North Tournament under far different circumstances as they will be the No. 17 seed when they travel to Tyngsboro on Saturday to take on CAC rival and No. 16 seed Greater Lowell (8-8) in the preliminary round.

And that may actually be a good thing for the 9-9 Lady Rams. After being eliminated in consecutive seasons by Matignon of the Catholic Central League, last season in the quarterfinals and in 2012 in the first round, with Matignon going on to win the sectional title despite their low (No. 16) seed.

Perhaps the lower seed and the more familiar opponent will provide a change of luck for the Lady Rams as they attempt make a deep post season run. According to Rams coach Maureen Buckley however, the opponent Shawsheen will face is the least of their concerns.

"What I told the girls is that it is not about Greater Lowell, it is about which Shawsheen Tech team shows up," Buckley said. "If we are sharp and we execute I am confident we can win. If we play sloppy like we have in some games, we probably will not win."

Indeed that has been the case for the Lady Rams in many of their games this season, including their two match-ups with Greater Lowell, with Shawsheen beating the Gryphons 7-5 on May 15th in Billerica, while they had suffered a tough 15-6 loss in Tyngsboro on April 24.

"We had ten and eleven hits in our games against them so I am confident we can hit against them, but we also need to be sharp defensively if we are going to win," Buckley said. "In our first game against them we did not have (Tewksbury native) Kerri (Hegarty) on the mound so that was a factor, but more important than that we played really sloppy defense."

If Shawsheen is able to get past Greater Lowell, waiting in the wings for them will be No. 1 seed Brighton of the Boston City League North. Brighton brings an outstanding 16-2 record into the tournament, but are a relative newcomer to the tournament, having not qualified last season, and qualifying as the No. 21 seed in 2012 before being eliminated by Greater Lowell by a score of 23-0 in the first round.

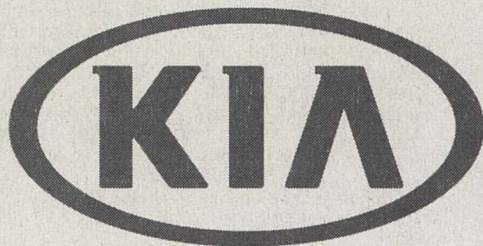

"I don't really know anything about them. I cannot remember them being in our bracket," Buckley said. "But it doesn't really matter at this point. We have to take it one game at a time. All we are going to look at right now is Greater Lowell and trying to get past them."

Buckley is also hoping that entering the tournament as a bit of an underdog instead of the team with a target on their backs as the top seed, will prove to be beneficial for her squad.

"I think we have learned our lesson that being the number one or number two seed does not matter much if you don't play well," Buckley said. "Maybe we can go in as underdogs, and use that to our advantage."

Rams to face
Cougars

the Rams favor as they face AC for a third time is that they have yet to play their best game against the Cougars, in fact having made some key mistakes during their two losses. With some better play, McCarthy is hoping that his team can reverse their results against their talented opponents.

"That's the thing with a team like AC is that you have to play mistake free ball against them if you are going to have a chance and we did not," McCarthy said. "Not to take anything away from them because they pounded us pretty well, but if we can play mistake free we will give ourselves a chance and we will see what happens."

Lucia putting up huge numbers

By MIKE IPPOLITO
Sports Correspondent

sports@yourtowncrier.com

BILLERICA -- When you look at the numbers that Shawsheen Tech senior pitcher/second baseman has put up this season, it almost does not seem possible that they are real. The senior from Tewksbury has had a remarkable season for the Rams in leading them to a share of the CAC Large championship and a berth in the state tournament where they will take on Arlington Catholic on Friday at Shawsheen.

At the plate, Lucia has slugged his way to a .545 average with nine runs scored and 19 RBI, while on the mound he has baffled hitters on his way to 6-2 record with a 1.14 ERA and 34 strikeouts in 37 innings.

They are the kind of numbers that a 14-year old normally puts up on X-Box, but in this case they are 100 percent real as Lucia has had a senior season for the ages for the Rams.

Lucia had already had a fine career for the Rams prior to this season, but he has taken his game to an entirely new level, something which he gives credit to the great support he has gotten from his teammates.

"This year has been outstanding. I couldn't ask for a better season. With that being said I also couldn't ask for a better set of teammates," Lucia said. "The difference between last year and this year is the team concept all of us have adopted. Last year I felt I had to do it myself, while this year I can trust anyone in the field to make the play no matter the situation. That's something as a pitcher that makes you feel like a kid on Christmas morning."

Shawsheen coach Brian McCarthy agrees that this season has been a team effort, but he also stresses that Lucia is responsible for much of his own success, particularly on the mound.

"I've seen Matt on the mound for the past two years really develop into a fantastic pitcher. There were times early on in his high school career where he was just a thrower, throwing hard, just trying to strike hitters out," McCarthy said. "He's learned to be a better pitcher over the last two years. Setting up hitters, working ahead in counts, and efficiently getting hitters out on the pitches he wants to throw them. It's become an art with Matt. He works hard at not only the physical part of the game, but the mental part too, which is often lost among a lot of high school athletes nowadays."

"Matt studies pitch charts of our opponents both before and during the games. I've also seen him on multiple occasions mentoring younger pitchers through-

GUI2-5

Tewksbury 5, Dracut 3

The Tewksbury U12-5 girls travel teams were at home for their sixth game of the season. The Tritons were matched up against Dracut after playing them less than a week ago.

The Tritons were led onto the field by game captains Julia Kirby and Caitlyn Finnegan. With the Tritons off to a slow start Dracut was able to work past the defense and place a shot on goal two minutes into the game. Ava Nickerson who started as goalkeeper for the Tritons was able to control the ball and make the save for Tewksbury. The Tritons struggled to control the ball and put pressure on Dracut in the first half.

Thirteen minutes into the first half the offensive and mid-field lines of Caitlyn Finnegan, Tory Sweeney, Abby Hayes, Klara Holden and Kaitlyn Oates were able to connect on several midfield passes and to move the ball into the Dracut penalty area. Abby Hayes was able to place a shot on net that was knocked down by an arm of the Dracut defender. Dracut was called for handling the ball and a penalty kick was awarded to Tewksbury. Abby Hayes was tapped to take the penalty kick and placed a hard low shot past the Dracut goalkeeper to take a 1-0 lead.

After the restart Dracut battled back and moved through the rotating defensive line of Mackenzie Dawson, Julia Kirby and Maddie Robillard who were playing slightly flat. Dracut was able to control the majority of the first half and place several shots on net. Nickerson was able to stop most of Dracut's advances.

With ten minutes remaining in the first half and the continued pressure, Dracut was able to place a shot past Nickerson to tie the game 1-1. With the first half ending both teams walked off the field tied 1-1.

With the restart of the second half Maddie Robillard took over the goalkeeper duties. After getting caught off guard with the restart of the second half, Dracut was able to pressure Robillard and placed a hard shot on net which was turned away.

With sluggish play of the Tritons, Dracut was able to continue to pressure and score their second goal over the hands of Robillard. Half way through the first half the Tritons were able to refocus on their zonal play and put more pressure on Dracut. Jade Owirka was able to capitalize and score the Tritons second goal of the game.

With the renewed energy Ava Nickerson and Sydney DeMasi were able to place several shots on net. Dracut continued to fight and place several shots on Robillard which were stopped.

With ten minutes remaining in the game Tory Sweeney was able to push past the Dracut midfield and defense line to cross the ball to the left wing where Sydney DeMasi was able to knock the ball past the Dracut goalkeeper to take a 3-2 lead.

Three minutes later DeMasi was able to return the favor to Sweeney on a crossing pass to the center of the field where Sweeney was able to net the Tritons fourth goal. Now with minutes remaining to play Sydney DeMasi was able to break through the midfield and defense and score unassisted off of Dracut to take a 5-2 lead.

With the Tritons still caught up in celebration from their fifth goal Dracut was able to punch threw the flat Triton defense and net their third goal of the game. After the restart the whistle was blown to signal the end of the game.

The Tritons walked away with their fourth win of the season to improve their record to 4-2. The Tritons are coached by Chuck Kirby, Sean Sweeney and Joe Dawson.

BU16-1

Tewksbury 6, Burlington 1

Tewksbury's BU16 team stayed unbeaten and clinched a playoff berth with a convincing 6-1 victory over visiting Burlington on Sunday. Both squads were missing several players due to a track meet, but at least the Redmen had a few on the bench; Burlington could only field ten players for the game and it showed as the field was tilted toward the Burlington end for most of the game.

In the first ten minutes, Tewksbury had about six good scoring chances, but had a little trouble locating the net. Striker Mohamad Yatim actually had a shot on target from 20 yards that the Burlington keeper was able to save with a diving deflection. Tewksbury's self-inflicted frustration increased when they allowed one Burlington foray into the Tewksbury zone that resulted in a score for the visitors.

One play was all it took for Burlington to take a 1-0 lead when the Red Devils forward had just enough space and time to send a ball high toward Tewksbury's goal that just slipped under the crossbar. That was the only time a ball got past Tewksbury keeper Phil Borges as he was able to handle the few other chances Burlington had. Burlington's lead was short lived as it took only three minutes for the Redmen to answer.

After another Tewksbury errant shot and the ensuing goal kick, striker Nick McKeon was first to the ball and used his foot skill to maneuver around a couple of Burlington defenders and put himself in a position where he had just the keeper to beat and blasted it past him at point blank range for the Redmen's first goal.

Tewksbury started taking advantage of the open spaces, working their passing game to create scoring chances. In the 22nd minute of the first half, fullback Scott Callahan started the attack near midfield with a pass to Christian Lucchesi who gave it one touch before finding McKeon in the middle. McKeon and Cody Souza worked a perfect give-and-go with Souza setting up McKeon's second goal.

Tewksbury stoppers Andrew Boudreau and Akash Ranjit played most of the game on the midfield stripe, allowing very few balls into the Tewksbury end. This allowed the outside fullbacks to press the offensive zone and set up the forwards to attack.

Fullback Eric Gallant used this tactic to apply the pressure for their third goal when he sent the ball deep into the right corner where Souza was able to gather it in and play it to McKeon at the edge of the penalty area on the end line. McKeon worked free and saw the left forward Mike Flynn stationed at the far post. Flynn took the crossing pass and redirected it perfectly into the open side of the goal for his second score of the season.

The Redmen's first goal of the second half had contributions from multiple players again as middies Alec DiCaccio, Brandon Alves, and Lucchesi advanced the ball with some nice diagonal passing, ending with a loft to the front of the goal that McKeon finished with a header for his 3rd goal of the day. McKeon was assisted on his last goal, and Tewksbury's fifth, when middies Jeff Carr sent a through ball into the right corner that Chris McCabe was able to reach before the defender. McCabe fed McKeon who was stationed in the goalie's kitchen, where he blasted through the goalie into the back of the net.

Tewksbury's final goal was scored by Lucchesi through some luck and persistence. After his first shot was stopped by the goalie, he followed his rebound with another shot that hit the crossbar. As if he had back to Christian for one more try that he was able to chip over the keeper and under the crossbar, finally settling into the net. The Redmen will get next weekend off before they finish with two games as a tune-up before they head to the Commissioner's Cup.

BU10-2

Tewksbury 2, Wakefield 0
Tewksbury continued their season, running its record to 6-0. They earned a victory this past Wednesday night with a 2-0 win against Wakefield. A hard fought defensive battle, lead by Jake McDonough in goal, continues to make key save after key save. Alek Cranston, leads the defense, along with Jake Pelletier and Andrew Grieco. The line of Brady Chapman, Andrew Della Piana, and Justin Rooney continue to light up the stat sheet. The offense got multiple chances by Travis Cohen, Cameron Gruning Logan Auth.

Chapman got the scoring started, assisted by Della Piana on a perfect give and go. Rooney capped off the scoring with another assist going to Della Piana. The defense and McDonough in net did the rest for a hard fought 2-0 win.

Playing in the Memorial Day Weekend tournament in Billerica, this Tewksbury team continues to impress. They ended the weekend going 4-0-1, and capturing the U10 Championship with a 2-1 victory over Billerica.

Lucia putting up some huge numbers for Rams

out the season."

With all his personal success this season, the thing that Lucia has enjoyed most has been the success of the team, as they improved from being a surprise tournament qualifier last season to a league co-champion this season. Once again, Lucia credits the work ethic put in by the entire team.

"This season has been something we've set out for since last year's disappointing postseason loss (to Bedford in the first round). We wanted to redeem ourselves and show everyone Shawsheen isn't a team to be taken lightly," Lucia said. "Since January we've worked hard in the cages during captain's practice to get ready and get better. Winning a share of the league and making the postseason just shows us that hard work does pay off."

It's that kind of team first attitude that has impressed McCarthy as much as anything Lucia has done on the field and it is why he considers Lucia to be one of the true leaders of the Rams.

"We do not name captains at Shawsheen baseball, but the leaders always emerge one way or another, and Matt is certainly a leader for us," McCarthy said. "He's both a vocal and lead-by-example type of guy. Whether it's pumping up the team during a game, or getting that clutch hit for us in the later innings, Matt seems to be impacting a lot of games for us this year in one way or another."

Those words of praise from McCarthy mean as much to Lucia as any post season awards he has received, of which there are many, including being a CAC All-Star and the Co-MVP of the league.

"I take pride in Coach Mac calling me a leader. I do view myself as a leader by example. When there's runners in scoring position I try and drive those runs in. When I put myself in a jam on the mound, I try and get myself out of it so we can be in the best position to win," Lucia said. "It's something I do like doing because when you succeed, it gives the whole team a huge boost which is sometimes what we need."

Perhaps the praise from McCarthy is so meaningful because Lucia knows how instrumental McCarthy and assistant coach Jeff Paquette have been to the team's success this season.

"Coach Mac has been so pivotal for us. He's a coach who really knows the game. That's something that you don't always get out of a high school coach," Lucia said. "With Coach Mac and Coach Paquette it's like having two head coaches which gives us an advantage no matter what game we play. We wouldn't be where we are right now if it wasn't for both coaches and everything they do to help this team win."

Lucia also knows that they will need all the help they can get come Friday in their first round game with Arlington Catholic, who has defeated the Rams twice this season. Lucia did not know the identity of the Rams first round opponent when he spoke to the Town Crier, but regardless of who they were going to face Lucia felt his team had something to prove in the tournament after last season's first round loss to Bedford.

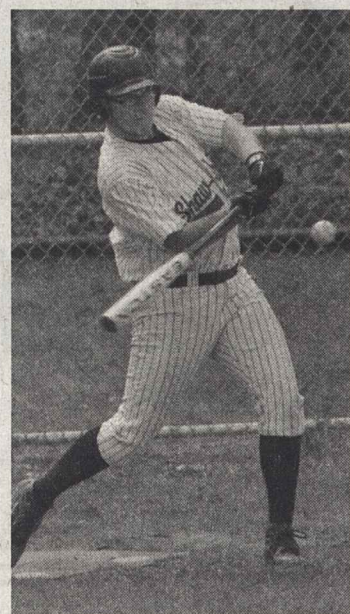

"Last year's loss was disappointing to say the least," Lucia said. "This year's team is something special. We all believe we can do the impossible. We work hard every day to reach our team goal. We want to win states more than anything."

Lucia also did not know at the time whether or not he would be the starting pitcher for the Rams, but was willing to help in whatever way he could.

"Coach Mac hasn't said anything about the first round starter yet but we try and get the match-up in our favor," Lucia said. "Whether that's me on the mound or someone else, all that matters is getting the W."

On Tuesday night McCarthy put any speculation about who would start the game for the Rams to rest.

"It's Matt all the way," McCarthy said. "He's been the workhorse for us all year long and he will be on regular rest on Friday. He gets the ball, no doubt."

Stoneham's Ciarlante becomes Colby-Sawyer's most honored student

By PAUL FEELY

When Business Administration major Nicholas "Nick" Ciarlante '14 of Stoneham presented his final report as student representative to the Colby-Sawyer College Board of Trustees on Friday, May 9, he concluded four years of leadership and service to the college in a variety of capacities, including three terms as president of the Student Government Association.

He also officially became the most honored student in the history of the college.

Colby-Sawyer President Thomas C. Galligan Jr. thanked Ciarlante on May 9 for his impactful years, and noted that not only would Ciarlante be the most honored student in the history of the college by the time he graduated on May 10, he had also been a student employee in Campus Safety. In that role, it was often Ciarlante who raised the flag of The United States of America over campus, said President Galligan, before presenting to Ciarlante one of the flags that had flown over the place to which he had dedicated himself fully. It was a gesture that Galligan said left few dry eyes in the boardroom, amidst loud applause.

"I am simply a college student looking to make a difference," said Ciarlante.

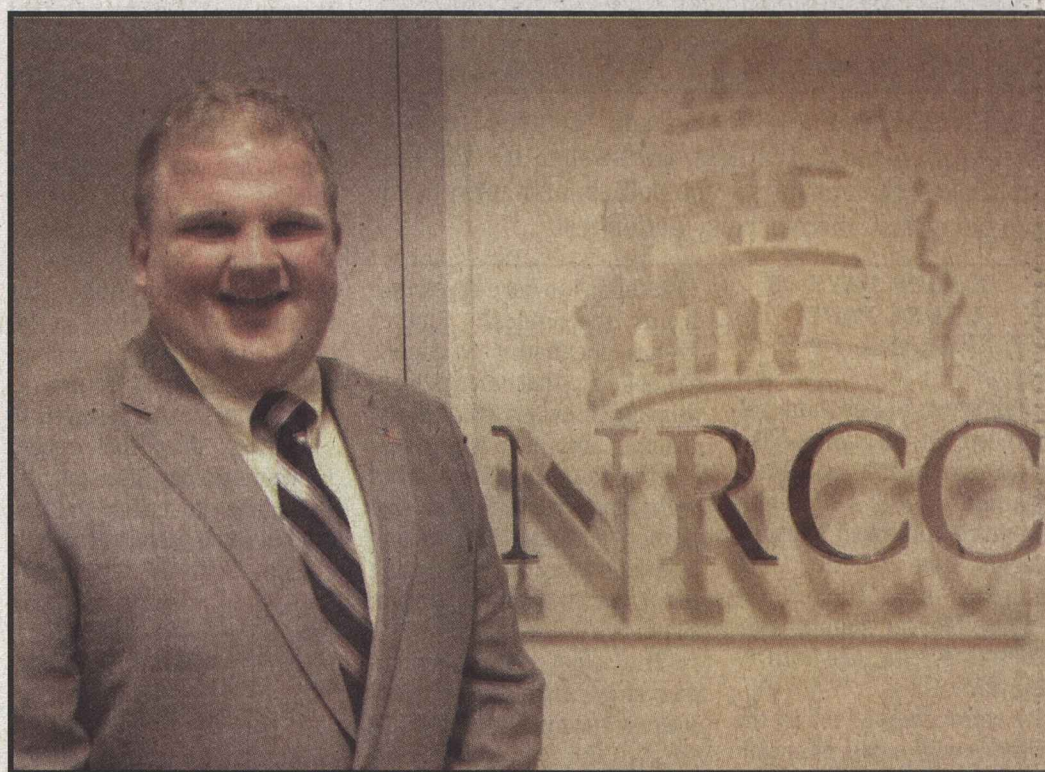

At the annual Scholars and Leaders Awards Ceremony held May 9, Ciarlante was recognized for his academic and extracurricular accomplishments with the Class of 2014 Commencement Speaker Medal, the Colby-Sawyer Award, the Barbara Johnson Stearns Award, the Senior Achievement Award and the Business Administration Capstone Award.

The Commencement

Speaker Medal is presented to a student who represents the character of the graduating class and will give an inspirational and engaging speech that represents the college's values and learning outcomes. Ciarlante was decorated with the medal for his tireless devotion to the college and the pursuit of his goals.

"[He] is a truly good person, a kind and empathetic individual," wrote one nominator, recognizing Ciarlante for the positive changes he has brought to campus over the years.

The Colby-Sawyer Award is given to the senior who, in the opinion of the faculty, best exemplifies the ideals of the college in personal dignity, intellectual growth, contribution to campus life and constructive influence on other students. Ciarlante was recognized for his leadership and dedication to the college, his work as the Student Government Association (SGA) president, his communication of student voices to the college's Board of Trustees, and many other roles on campus.

"Nick is hardworking, honest and tireless in the energy he devotes to the college ... [to make] our community better," said one nominator.

The Barbara Johnson Stearns Award honors a member of the senior class who best demonstrates exemplary leadership and dedication to the college community. The award was established in 1982 by Barbara Johnson Stearns, a member of the Class of 1932, who was an outstanding example of the characteristics she chose to support and reinforce in others. "Nick has been an asset to the college community while always sporting a smile, a listening ear and bountiful understanding," said Dean of Students Dave Sauerwein.

Ciarlante also received the Senior Achievement Award for his leadership in the co-curricular life of the college. While at Colby-Sawyer, he worked in Campus Safety, the Office of Admissions, and also served as vice president of the Colby-Sawyer chapter of Enactus, an international organization that works to educate people in the college and surrounding communities about different aspects of business, such as skills, finances and ethical practices.

Along with his five senior Business Administration teammates, Ciarlante also received the Business Administration Capstone

"X-Men Days of Future Past"

by Paul Feely

"X-MEN: DAYS OF FUTURE PAST" returns the franchise to its former greatness. In the end, it's the cast that makes the movie so compelling and prevents it from being just another noisy action-fest.

"X-MEN: DAYS OF FUTURE PAST"
GRADE: ***

Following a less-than-stellar reception for X-Men - The Last Stand in 2006 and Hugh Jackman's 2009 Wolverine adventure, director Matthew Vaughn (and co-writer Jane Goldman) kick started the flagging Marvel mutant franchise three years ago with X-Men: First Class.

A retro prequel set in the early 60s with a cast of bright, new talents playing younger versions of established characters (James McAvoy as Professor X, Michael Fassbender as Magneto, a pre-Oscar winning Jennifer Lawrence as blue-hued shape-shifter Mystique), it rejuvenated the series almost overnight.

No surprise, then, that a sequel to the prequel would appear on screens. However, director Bryan Singer has tipped the ante with an ambitious time-spanning tale that puts the stars of the franchise he started in 2000 - Patrick Stewart, Ian McKellen, Halle Berry and Jackman in the same movie as their younger counterparts.

It begins in a dark future where the stakes are high for a grizzled Wolverine, who's sent back to 1973 by old sparring partners Professor X (Stewart) and Magneto (McKellen) to save the future from mechanical mutant killers called Sentinels. Trouble is, that means convincing McAvoy's drugged-up, fed-up (and now powerless) Xavier to bury the hatchet with Magneto, who was last seen enticing girlfriend Mystique away after crippling his friend at the end of First Class.

The fact Fassbender's master of magnetism is now locked away in a vault beneath the Pentagon, apparently for killing President Kennedy, is also a bit of a problem. Cue a terrific Mission Impossible-style rescue sequence that introduces Evan Peters as dynamic speed demon Quicksilver, all this so Xavier and Magneto can prevent a vengeful Mystique from causing the end-of-days scenario awaiting them in the future.

Thankfully it's not all doom and gloom, though. Singer continues the fresh, almost Bond-like approach championed by Vaughn - if you enjoyed the nostalgic 60s vibe of First Class, then be prepared to wallow in the fabulously rendered 70s - the fashions, the Vietnam War, Nixon, even the way the film is shot.

The set pieces are powerful, particularly the earth-shattering climax as both future and past X-Men battle to avoid annihilation. But it's not all about brawn; there are great little nuggets of acting, too (including a crucial tete-a-tete between the two Xaviers).

In the end, it's the cast that makes the movie so compelling and prevents it from being another noisy action-fest, whether it's McAvoy and Fassbender not knowing if they should kill or hug each other; the always charismatic Lawrence demonstrating that blue is not the warmest colour; Peter Dinklage (Tyrion in Game of Thrones) as the inventor of the killer robots, complete with fine 70s 'tache; and of course Jackman who's more mentor than mauler here.

Kudos go to Singer for making the franchise a hit again, a rip-roaring recalibration of past and future X-teams that hasn't resorted to recasting like the recent Amazing Spider-Man movies. Remember to check the end credits for a taste of the epic X-Men: Apocalypse, due in 2016.

"GODZILLA"
GRADE: ***

The good news is Godzilla is back, in all his spine-rattling glory.

Godzilla has remained a fascination among sci-fi lovers for more than 60 years, and because of his status as perhaps the longest-tenured (and tallest) popular figure in the genre, fans want to see their star get his props on the big screen.

The last time Hollywood tried doing a Godzilla film was Roland Emmerich's 1998 version, a colossal dud that had many people questioning whether Emmerich had ever seen a Godzilla film.

Fortunately, director Gareth Edwards and writers Max Borenstein and Dave Callahan fare much, much better in the new "Godzilla." They've managed to update the story while leaving enough of the legend intact to satisfy longtime fans.

Instead of being a product of the atomic age as in the original story, this time Big G was apparently a target of the atomic age (or were you wondering why we blew up so many nukes in the Pacific back in the 1950s?)

Bryan Cranston plays a scientist on a quest to expose what caused a nuclear meltdown (a big animal) at an Indian power plant in the '90s that killed his wife (Juliette Binoche, in a role requiring about three minutes of screen time). His ensuing quest alienates him from his son (Aaron Taylor-Johnson), a Navy bomb expert who lives in San Francisco with his wife (Elizabeth Olsen) and young son.

But the humans are the least of Godzilla's concerns. There are a couple of giant slimy things on his radar - radiation-gobbling MUTOS (Massive Unidentified Terrestrial Organisms), one of which emerges from the Pacific and starts wreaking havoc in Japan.

Meanwhile, another MUTO

- which was apparently dumped years earlier in a cave near Las Vegas with other nuclear waste - emerges and starts moving west.

Meanwhile, we see bits and pieces of Godzilla, roused and for some reason racing across the Pacific to do battle with the MUTOS, who have reunited in San Francisco and are trying to raise a family, despite the pesky military's insistence on shooting at them.

As the film engages in suspense-building, we don't actually see the big guy until about halfway through the film. Good move. It makes him look even more menacing when he does appear. When he finally decides to show off his new and improved fire breath, I nearly jumped out of my chair with a fist-pump.

While the monsters are computer-generated, the destroyed landscapes come via old school model-making.

If you're looking for a summer blockbuster that delivers pure escapism for 2 hours without overstaying its welcome, Godzilla won't disappoint you.

The quirky, humorous psychological crime story "Criminal Hearts," by Jane Martin, is playing at The Quannapowitt Players of Reading through May 31 on weekends.

A darkly funny play that is equal parts a clash of cultures and a battle of the sexes, "Criminal Hearts" is a challenging comedy that puts its female characters front and center and dares the audience to rethink what it knows about the role of women in an ever-changing society.

At Creative Arts this Friday

"Celebrating the Arts" dinner, exhibits, awards

Join Creative Arts on Friday, May 30th, for "Celebrating the Arts" as faculty and students share their talents in celebration of its 37th year of providing visual and performing arts to kids and adults in over 30 communities.

The evening will begin at 6 pm with a buffet dinner and reception hosted by Creative Arts' Board of Directors and an art exhibit featuring the work of students and faculty. The program will begin promptly at 7 pm with award presentations, announcements, and music and theatrical performances featuring select students and faculty. Dessert will be served and raffle winners announced immediately following the program.

Michael Bonnel from Bertucci's of Reading will be honored with the Founders' Award for his commitment, support, and dedication to Creative Arts. This longstanding award recognizes a local community member or organization who, by their dedication and involvement, support the ideals and values of the original founders of Creative Arts, the belief that the arts are an integral part of the community.

Michael has been a steadfast supporter of both Creative Arts and the community as a whole. He is constantly helping Creative Arts with last minute pizza requests, graciously hosts our adult paint nights and Saturday kids art projects, and is even working with us to offer fun art and pizza birthday parties! The past two years, Michael has gone above and beyond to support summer theatre and art programs by keeping attending kids and instructors fed on the day of their final productions or exhibits.

Four students will also receive special awards. The Mildred Hersh Memorial Scholarship honors a piano student who has demonstrated outstanding musicianship and regularly attends lessons, recitals, and workshops. The O'Hare Scholarship is awarded based on love and dedication to a string instrument and involvement in the Creative Arts family. The Rylan Brenner Theatre Scholarship is awarded to a student who shows commitment & dedication to the theatre arts. And the Rembrandt Visual Art Scholarship honors a Creative Arts student who is passionate about continuing to learn, sharpen and expand their visual arts talents. These scholarships are generously donated every year in memory/honor of family members and will be announced at the event.

A special faculty member will also be honored with the Creative Choice Award for going above and beyond to be involved, for bringing Creative Arts to the larger community, and for attracting or retaining families to Creative Arts.

Raffle tickets are also being sold prior to and during the reception. Prizes include a pair of Red Sox tickets, a gorgeous Spring Wreath by Brissonte in North Reading, a gift basket from Lumina Solon, and more. Tickets are only $1 each or 6 for $5 and can be purchased in advance at Creative Arts. You do not have to attend "Celebrating the Arts" Night to win.

This FREE event will be held at Creative Arts in Pilgrim Hall inside the First Congregational Church, 25 Woburn, Reading. Your RSVP to 781-942-9600 or info@WeTeachCreativeArts.org will help better prepare for your arrival! Creative Arts alumni are encouraged to attend and share some of their experiences of when they participated in or volunteered at Creative Arts.

Special thanks to sponsors Nelson Burbank, Reading Rotary, and Walsh & Co. for making this FREE community event possible.

AMENITIES, ALTERNATIVES, AND COOL RUNNINGS

Please check your local "Daily Times Chronicle" for daily updates.

PARK PLAN (BURLINGTON)

National Development recently continued discussions with the Planning Board regarding its various proposals to reconfigure New England Executive Park (NEEP) on Burlington Mall Road by adding amenities and improving pedestrian traffic flow," notes the Burlington edition of the "Daily Times Chronicle."

"Plans were presented for a 170-room hotel, three restaurants, and two new official buildings on the site. The 330,000-square-foot project has been brought forth so the suburban office park can remain first class and properly fit into Burlington's rapidly growing, modern commercial sector.

"The goal is to keep (NEEP) a first class office park by providing some additional key amenities," said attorney Mark Vaughan of the local firm of Riemer & Braunstein, representing National Development. "We talk to a lot of tenants, and more and more they are focused on the proximity of amenities."

"National Development acquired the 1 million-square-foot office park last year for $216M. The previous owner, Equity Office Properties, laid the groundwork for non-office uses in 2009 when it sponsored a zoning amendment that allows restaurants, retail, hotels, and parking garages.

"This modernization of NEEP is already in effect as Tavern in the Square has since opened and is thriving and Tuscan Kitchen is under construction.

"The 330,000-square-foot increase in the park is 'well below' the 750,000-square-foot that was authorized under the Planned Development District (PDD) in terms of additional square-footage..."

"Phase II entails an additional restaurant, new parking areas, an office building, and a small amount of new retail in the park..."

KIND OF AN OLD BEGINNING (READING)

"One could say the long construction and renovation project involving the former M.F. Charles building in downtown Reading is coming to and end, but Jim Mawn prefers to look at it as a new beginning," notes the Reading edition of the "Daily Times Chronicle."

"It took a long time, and a lot of effort, but we're here now," said Mawn, President and CEO of Northern bank and Trust Company, which will be the anchor tenant in the building....

"The Reading Historical Commission helped us choose the awnings," said Mawn. "We brought fabric samples before them, and they showed us where they wanted the awnings to go and where they didn't, to get as close to the original as possible. This gives it a flavor of what it might have looked like at the time"...

"The site is also home to Orange Leaf Frozen Yogurt (already open); D'Amici's Bakery which is also open, and Bunratty Tavern, an Irish Tavern that will feature an outdoor patio...."

THE REST OF THE STORY (WILMINGTON)

"Dog park, splash pad, ice rink, athletic field?" notes the Wilmington "Town Crier."

"Organizers want to know what residents want in the new recreation space previously known as Yentile Farm. Residents have just two final opportunities to weigh in with a new online survey and the final workshop in July. And yes, the town wants to hear from you."

"Members of the Yentile Farm Development Committee, chaired by Selectman Judy O'Connell, met with Christine Scypinski from Waterfield Design Group, to discuss the next steps in a recreational facility at the Cross Street location.

"Committee members seek feedback on the preferred concept plan developed following the first two public workshops held this spring. At town meeting earlier this month, the committee offered a paper survey based on the preferred design concept plan, but only received 27 responses, compared to the 1,000+ respondents from the initial online survey from 2012. The committee wants to see those high numbers again...."

Stay tuned for the rest of the story.

Athletes & Activities

by Paul Feely

MIDDLESEX EAST
SPORTS WEEKLY
TRIVIA:

The longest standing Olympic track and field record was set 46 years ago in Mexico City. Name the athlete and the event in which he set the record.

Answer appears elsewhere in this column.

A program-record matching 16 members of the Stonehill College men's track and field program have earned a combined program-best 25 All-East Region honors by the U.S. Track & Field and Cross Country Coaches Association (USTFCCCA), the organization announced this week. The awards recognize each of the region's top five performers in individual events and top three teams in relay events.

Stonehill's 16 All-Region performers matches the program record set during the 2012 outdoor season, while its 25 total awards earned by those individuals betters the previous high of 20 set during the 2012 outdoor season and matched during the indoor campaign this past winter. The USTFCCCA started its All-Region program in 2010-11 and the Skyhawks have had a combined 55 student-athletes earn 71 All-Region awards since.

Junior Teague Grubel (Phoenix, Arizona/Shadow Mountain) and freshman All-American Matt Baldasare (Mansfield, Massachusetts/Mansfield) lead the way for Stonehill by collecting three All-East Region awards apiece. Grubel, who is now a six-time All-Region performer with five outdoor honors over his career, collected All-Region status for his personal-best time of 10.93-seconds in the 100-meter dash at the Holy Cross Invitational on April 19 to go with honors as part of Stonehill's 4x100-meter and 4x400-meter relay teams. The 4x100-meter relay posted a season-best time of 42.16-seconds in placing sixth at the New England Outdoor Track & Field Championships last weekend, while the 4x400-meter relay posted a school-record time of 3:15.22 for an eighth place showing at the New England Championships.

Seniors Xavier Dixon (New Bedford, Massachusetts/New Bedford), who will represent Stonehill at the NCAA Division II Outdoor Track & Field Championships in Allendale, Michigan, in next weekend, and Tyler Moules (Billerica, Massachusetts/Billerica) as well as juniors Daniel Cormier (Methuen, Massachusetts/Methuen), ROBERT SMITH (WOBURN, MASSACHUSETTS/WOBURN MEMORIAL) and All-American Daniel Zawalich (Paxton, Massachusetts/St. John's of Shrewsbury) have all earned All-East Region honors in two events.

Robert Smith, Junior (Woburn, Mass./Woburn Memorial) 4x100-meter relay (42.16/New England Championships) 4x400-meter relay (3:15.22/New England Championships – School Record)

Junior Maria Curit (Biddeford, Maine/Biddeford) automatically qualified for the NCAA Championships in the 800-meter run to highlight Stonehill's performance on the final day of the 2014 New England Outdoor Track & Field Championships, hosted by Westfield State University at Alumni Field.

Stonehill finished 11th among a field of 39 teams with 27 total points. The University of Rhode Island won the event with 77 points, followed by Southern Connecticut State University (76), the University of Massachusetts (61.5), and Boston College (57).

Stonehill registered its final two All-New England performances with the 4x400 and 4x800-meter relays. The 4x800 relay of LaRegina, Anderson, junior Brittany Venturo (Taunton, Massachusetts/Coyle Cassidy) and FRESHMAN ALEXANDRA BUONFIGLIO (LYNNFIELD, MASSACHUSETTS/LYNNFIELD) finished eighth in 9:24.21. Buonfiglio led off with a mark of 2:20, followed by Anderson (2:22.4), Venturo (2:25), and LaRegina (2:16.4).

Need some help with the trivia question? The athlete's initials are B.B.

Stonehill College football program has signed 17 future student-athletes to National Letters of Intent (NLI) since the February signing period opened.

Of the 17 signees to date, ten came on Signing Day, Wednesday, February 5. Stonehill have signed eight on the offensive side of the ball and nine on defense so far. Seven signees are from Massachusetts, with three from New Hampshire and two from New Jersey. The only local among Stonehill's initial signees is: Kevin Dick WR 6-3 185 Tewksbury, Mass./Tewksbury Memorial

The Merrimack College men's and women's track & field teams wrapped up the 2014 outdoor campaign at the New England Championships hosted by Westfield State University.

Merrimack sent its top outdoor performers who had qualified in their respective events to face off against the best competitors in New England, including programs from the Division I and Division III ranks.

The men's side featured a number of performers but was highlighted by two Warriors earning points in the team standings. FRESHMAN JOHN BRAGA (NORTH READING, MASS.) wrapped up a tremendous rookie campaign with a fourth-place finish in the long jump; his final distance of 6.65m was the top Division II distance.

ANSWER TO THIS WEEK'S TRIVIA QUESTION: Bob Beamon, Long Jump.

DO YOU KNOW SOMETHING WE DON'T? If you have information about a local athlete that you would like to see appear in this column, please email it to readingchronicle@comcast.net

we did four years ago, we are about to begin a new chapter of our lives. We were guided, supported and pushed to excel, and now I challenge you to do the same. Push yourself and try to inspire others."

This fall, Ciarlante will begin a master's degree in Professional Studies in Legislative Affairs at George Washington University's Graduate School of Political Management. He hopes to run for public office and create legislation that impacts people on an even larger scale than the positive change he affected at Colby-Sawyer.

"While Business Administration is my major, I have a passion and drive for politics, and hope to pursue a career in politics upon graduating from Colby-Sawyer," said Ciarlante. "The role of the politician is a critical one in today's society, as it is their essential role to regain the trust of Americans nationwide. In the modern political realm today, there is a lot of dirty politics that takes place. Politics is not always full of glamour, pomp, and fame. However, I have committed myself to this calling of public service for the better interest of the people. It is about the process and what I can take back to help improve my hometown and college community that I am in love with."

"The summer of 2013, I was privileged to be an intern at the National Republican Congressional Committee (NRCC) in Washington, D.C. I am grateful for the opportunity I was given, as it was my first full-time experience in politics. The NRCC is a Republican Hill committee designed to support the election of Republicans to the U.S. House of Representatives. Working in the Communications Department, I was responsible for creating and maintaining congressional district press lists, writing press releases, working with the video studio coordinator to film, record, and edit video clips of Representatives."

Health benefits of dark chocolate

Many people associate healthy eating with foods that may not be so tasty. While desserts are not often considered the healthiest course of a meal, dark chocolate, when enjoyed in moderation, can be healthy.

Dark chocolate can benefit the brain, heart and even teeth. Researchers at a meeting of the American Chemical Society in Dallas have discovered just why dark chocolate packs such a healthy punch. Otherwise indigestible portions of the chocolate are converted by microbes in the digestive system. In turn, the chocolate is transformed into anti-inflammatory compounds.

Researchers found that digestion in the stomach produces long molecules called polyphenolic polymers. These molecules are too large to cross the walls of the stomach to be used nutritionally. However, when the polyphenolic polymers meet lactic acid and microbes that inhabit the human colon, the polymers ferment and can be broken down further. These smaller molecules are then used by the body. The resulting material is anti-inflammatory and can prevent certain conditions, including cardiovascular disease, from developing.

One of the pitfalls of dark chocolate is the sugar and fat content of a candy bar, which can overshadow the health benefits. But those who consume the majority of their dark chocolate in the form of unsweetened cocoa powder can avoid such consequences. Roughly two tablespoons of cocoa powder per day can produce the desired anti-inflammatory benefits, and cocoa powder can be mixed into drinks, sprinkled over oatmeal and consumed in many other ways. Full-sugar, full-fat dark chocolate bars and pieces should be enjoyed sparingly, although they are better for your health than milk or white chocolate.

Interest in dark chocolate for its medical benefits has led researchers to study the efficacy of its anti-inflammatory compounds. A big study is already underway to see if pills containing the nutrients in dark chocolate can replicate the many health benefits, including helping to prevent heart attack and stroke. The pills are so concentrated they would be the equivalent of eating numerous dark chocolate bars, but without the negative side effects. The goal of the study is to see if chocolate can provide significant medical benefits without forcing consumers to eat so much sugar and fat. The study will be sponsored by the National Heart, Lung and Blood Institute and Mars Inc., maker of M&M's and Snickers bars. The candy company has patented a way to extract flavonols from cocoa in high concentration and put them in capsules. Mars and some other companies sell cocoa extract capsules, but with less active ingredients than those that will be tested in the study. Some participants will get flavorless, coated pills that contain the cocoa flavonols, while others will be given a placebo. Eighteen thousand men and women nationwide are expected to participate.

In addition to anti-inflammatory properties, dark chocolate contains several chemical compounds that have a positive effect on mood and cognitive health. Chocolate contains phenylethylamine, or PEA, the same chemical your brain creates when you feel like you're falling in love. Taking dark chocolate supplements may help a person's mind and body.

How to manage back pain

Back pain can have a debilitating impact on those suffering from it. But even those who have endured back pain might be unaware of just how far-reaching and expensive it can be.

According to the National Institute of Neurological Disorders and Stroke, lower back pain is the foremost cause of job disability around the world. The NINDS study, in which researchers examined data from 117 studies conducted in 47 different countries, found that one in 10 people suffer from lower back pain, a discovery that no doubt startles many people, especially when considering the global scope of the study. A condition that affects 10 percent of the world may seem impossible to prevent, but there are steps men and women suffering from back pain can take to make their condition more manageable.

* Contact your physician. A bruised back or mild stiffness may not require the help of a physician. Such issues will likely disappear shortly enough to make medical attention unnecessary. But EmblemHealth recommends that people suffering with back pain visit a doctor if they experience numbness or tingling in their back, legs or arms; suffer pain after a fall; and/or are feeling pain with additional symptoms, including fever, trouble passing urine or unexplained weight loss. Such symptoms indicate that the back pain is more than just a temporary nuisance, and something that may need to be treated by a professional.

When a physician visit is necessary, the doctor will attempt to understand just what's causing the pain. Identifying the cause can help to develop an appropriate and effective course of treatment. The most common causes of back pain include bulging discs, pinched nerves, arthritis, muscle spasms or strains, and sciatica, a nerve condition that goes from the lower back through the hips. Some cases of back pain are a result of poor posture or tight muscles.

* Exercise regularly. When speaking with a physician, men and women who suffer from back pain should discuss exercise as a treatment method. Regular exercises such as riding a bicycle or swimming can improve strength and flexibility in the back. More complex exercises, such as yoga, also have been recommended to sufferers of back pain. Yoga improves flexibility and builds strength while also promoting strong bones which can reduce a person's risk of injury. Injuries that limit movement can increase a person's risk of developing back pain, so an exercise routine that builds flexibility and strong bones can be an effective way to manage or even prevent back pain.

* Sit up straight at work. Many people can trace their back pain to their offices, where uncomfortable chairs and poorly positioned desks don't provide the necessary support men and women need to reduce or prevent back pain. Chairs should provide adequate lower back support, and desks should be at a comfortable height that does not force the body to hunch or place itself in another awkward position just to get work done. When sitting, make sure you are sitting upright with your shoulders relaxed and your body against the back of your chair.

* Don't resort to too much rest. Long-time sufferers of back pain no doubt recall a time when physicians would prescribe rest to treat back pain. But too much sitting around has now been shown to worsen back pain. If you must rest, do so for only a day or two before gradually becoming more active. Swimming or walking can be great and less physically taxing ways to acclimate your body to physical activity after resting for a day or two due to back pain.

Studies have shown that back pain is prevalent across the globe. Coping with back pain is often painful, but there are healthy ways for men and women to manage their back pain and start feeling good again.

Relaxation techniques to calm your nerves

Since 2007, the American Psychological Association has commissioned an annual nationwide survey to examine the state of stress across the United States and understand its impact. The 2013 survey found that people continue to experience what they feel are unhealthy stress levels, with 42 percent of adult respondents reporting that their stress levels have increased over the past five years. In addition, 44 percent of survey respondents feel they aren't doing enough to manage their stress, painting a potentially troubling future for people who cannot find better and healthier ways to manage their stress.

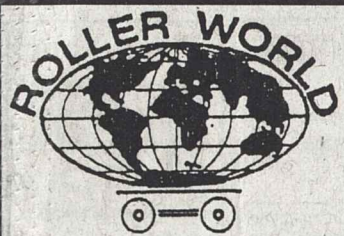

The picture is none the rosier in Canada, where data from the 2012 Canadian Community Health Survey revealed that nearly 23 percent of Canadians aged 15 and older reported that most days were "quite a bit or extremely stressful." While those figures marked a slight improvement from the previous year's survey, it's apparent that stress is still a considerable concern for people throughout both the United States and Canada.

Though many people unfortunately regard stress as an inevitable side effect of adulthood, it's important that men, women and even children avoid characterizing stress as simply a byproduct of a difficult and/or successful life and career. Even momentary stress, often referred to as "acute stress," like the kind that appears when stuck in a traffic jam, can have a potentially devastating impact on overall health. According to the American Institute of Stress, acute stress causes an increase in heart rate and stronger contractions of the heart muscle, and some medical professionals have suggested there is a link between repeated episodes of acute stress and heart attack.

Regular use of relaxation techniques to reduce stress can help to counteract the effects observe and interact with family or friends in the dining room or living room. The eating bar also serves to keep folks who just want to chat out of the way of the cooks.

The Lander's dining room has a built-in hutch and buffet. In the living room, a direct-vent gas fireplace provides warmth and color. Alternately, the home could be built with a fireplace that burns wood and has a chimney. Bookcases are on one side and a home entertainment center is on the other.

Owners' suite amenities include a deep walk-in closet and a private bathroom with double vanity. Laundry appliances are nearby in a utility room outfitted with plenty of cupboard space, shelves and a handy counter for folding clothes and linens.

If a home office is needed, the front bedroom is an excellent location.

Relax

of long-term stress, which the National Center for Complementary and Alternative Medicine notes can contribute to depression, digestive disorders, headaches, high blood pressure, and insomnia. While it's always best for anyone, and especially those people with heart disease, epilepsy, certain psychiatric conditions or a history of abuse or trauma, to consult their health care provider before attempting to address their stress on their own, the following are two popular relaxation techniques that may help relieve stress in a healthy way.

Meditation

There are many types of meditation, but in general people who meditate employ certain techniques when meditating. These techniques may include maintaining a specific posture or finding a quiet, distraction-free location to meditate. Many practitioners of meditation choose to recite a positive mantra that they repeat throughout their session. While many people question the effectiveness of meditation, research has suggested that routine meditation sessions can alter the brain's neural pathways and make a person more capable of combatting stress.

Yoga

Yoga has grown increasingly popular in recent years, and much of that can be traced to the multitude of health benefits that have been linked to this typically low-impact practice of the mind and body. The NCCAM notes that studies have suggested yoga is effective at lowering heart rate and blood pressure and can even relieve anxiety and depression. Those are beneficial side effects for sufferers of stress, which over time can contribute to high blood pressure and arrhythmia (abnormal heartbeat) and even cause people to worry too much about minor things or suspect bad things are about to happen.

More information about stress and coping techniques is available at www.apa.org.

Austin Prep Academic Decathlon team shines at state finals

Austin Preparatory School's Academic Decathlon team finished 5th overall at the state competition recently. The Reading school was the highest-scoring private/Catholic school, and second-highest of the small schools.

In individual results, Austin students earned three medals. Two of those went to sophomore Meghan Bodette of Andover. She received a bronze in Art and a silver in Language/Literature. Meghan was also the fifth-highest overall scoring competitor in the scholastic division.

Junior John Taveras of Tewksbury won a bronze medal in Music. What makes that especially impressive is that John was a late addition to the squad. He was recruited just before February vacation to fill a vacant spot in the varsity division.

The state finals team also included seniors Andrew Baker of Wilmington, Grace Ferri of Saugus, Michael Gannon of North Reading, juniors Drew Ciccarella of Saugus, John Smolak of North Andover, Nicholas Sorabella of Stoneham, and sophomore Teresa Leahy of Stoneham. The team's moderator is Edward MacKenzie of Littleton, history faculty.

Ray Flynn to speak at Austin Prep graduation

Austin Preparatory School in Reading is proud to announce that Raymond L. Flynn, former Mayor of Boston and United States Ambassador to the Vatican, will give the keynote address at the school's graduation next month.

The school will also confer an honorary diploma to former Ambassador Flynn.

A personal friend of Pope Saint John Paul II, Mr. Flynn attended the canonization of John Paul and Pope Saint John XXIII in St. Peter's Square, Vatican City, last month.

Austin Prep will graduate 104 seniors during its 49th commencement exercises on Sat., June 7, at the school.
